GOVERNOR RITCHIE of Maryland withdraws in favor of Governor Smith and harmony. But Senator Reed of Missouri will stick as a candidate and says he "can bar Smith."

Practical politicians think that he cannot. They predict at Houston a repetition of the Kansas City program, the presidential candidate, Governor Smith, nominated on the first ballot, and vice presidential candidate, pleasing to farmers, nominated with one ballot immediately afterward.

NEW low prices in the stock market yesterday. Many little lambs went home and left their fleece behind them. Those too weak to hold stocks throw them overboard. Strong men pick them up, and there will be another start in the prosperity market.

That is how it usually is.

CALIFORNIA, a heavy loser in collapse of Bancitaly stock, may find comfort in the real estate's gains. Concentrating on stock speculation, Californians have neglected California's best asset, REAL ESTATE. Many will realize that a piece of solid earth is safer property than a piece of nicely printed paper.

W. F. KNUDSEN, Chevrolet president, offers cheerful news on General Motors. In May his company turned out 140,700 Chevrolet cars. On one day, May 28, the product was 7,075 finished cars and trucks. May, 1928, is 35,000 cars ahead of May, 1927.

THAT'S good production, but high General Motors officials should bear in mind that the machinery in their brains is more valuable than any other asset of General Motors. Men like President Sloan, of General Motors, and Raskob, head of General Motors finance, work themselves as they wouldn't work any piece of machinery.

They take the night train from New York to Detroit, begin work there at 8 in the morning, work through the whole day, eating sandwiches at noon, still working, and take the night train back to New York.

No machine can stand that, and no duty to stockholders justifies it.

DR. WALSH, of Fordham University, tells young men "the world is confronted with more mysteries than ever before. Science solves only a few problems."

Yes, indeed. Why does the hydrogen atom have a single proton in the center, and a single electron revolving around it, why does the helium atom, first discovered on the sun through the spectroscope, have four nuclei with two electrons revolving around them, and how does the formation of four grammes helium, with hydrogen, produce energy as great as though eighty tons of coal were burned. There are some mysteries.

EVERYTHING is a mystery if you go far enough into it. And the greater of all mysteries is thought, which has no proton or electron, so far as we know, and is driven by an energy that has no more practical name than "soul" or "mind."

A $20,000 prize is offered for the best ending to Schubert's "unfinished symphony." It won't be worth $20,000.

To finish Schubert's symphony you would have to be Schubert. To restore her arms to the Venus de Milo, or to show how the Winged Victory looked before she got into that fight, you would require the brain and the feeling of the artist that made the statue. Every mind ever born is absolutely different from every other.

YOU read about Edwin J. Jerge, riddled with bullets when red light stopped his car at a crowded New York crossing.

Jerge was by profession a bank robber, postoffice bandit and bootlegger, according to detectives. They are not sure whether he was killed for "squealing," or whether his death was due to a bootlegging feud. A quarrel among dope peddlers, or a row over a woman. It is sure to be one of those complications, say the detectives.

THE White Star Company is building a ship to be 1,000 feet long, 100 feet high, costing $30,000,000.

The ship in which Columbus crossed could be strung out from the deck of the White Star monster as a life boat. This will be the biggest ship in the world, and Americans who like "biggest things" will travel on it.

POLICE END 303-HR. DANCE

After establishing a new world's record of 303 hours and 2 minutes of continuous dancing, three couples in the Academy Theater shuffle marathon were ordered to quit at 11:32 o'clock this morning by Dr. Daniel E. Sable, who feared physical collapse of the contestants.

All three couples were reluctant to wind up their long grind which began at 8:30 p. m., June 7 in the theater, switched to a boat over two week-ends to avoid clashing with the blue laws and was resumed again on the stage floor early Monday.

Those in at the finish were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Proie, of Mt. Washington; Buck Weaver, Homestead, and Sonia Lau Slovic, New Kensington; Jimmy Ross, West End, and Isabel Spaide, North Side.

"No ill effects were experienced by the dancers," said Dr. Sable, "but I felt that if they continued much longer they might draw on their reserve strength to such an

Drop Food To Nobile

(Copyright, 1928, by Associated Press.)

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 20.—Gen. Umberto Nobile and his five stranded companions from the North Pole dirigible Italia have been located off Northeast Land by Maj. Maddalena, Italian aviator.

The flier, who took off from Kings Bay at 6 o'clock this morning on a reconnaissance of Northeast Land, dropped provisions from his hydroairplane for the stranded group.

Maj. Maddalena returned to Kings Bay at 1:50 o'clock this afternoon and reported that all appeared well with the men who have been held in the grim grip of the Polar Sea ever since May 25 when the Italia was dashed to the ground and the control cabin was torn loose, spilling Nobile and eight men on the ice.

He said that he had dropped everything necessary for the relief of the men. His report stirred the utmost enthusiasm and optimism aboard the base ship, Citta di Milano, which had stood by in Kings Bay day after day keeping in touch with the Nobile party by means of the radio.

LONDON, June 20.—The French seaplane of Rene Guilbauld and Capt. Roald Amundsen, which hopped off at Tromsoe, Norway, on Monday to search for the Nobile expedition, has been forced down in the Polar Sea and has wirelessed an urgent appeal for aid, according to a Central News dispatch from Berlin this afternoon.

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 20.—(AP.)—Roald Amundsen, Lieut. Lief Dietrichsen and Rene Guilbaud, who left Tromsoe, Norway, Monday night in a French seaplane to join the Nobile rescue work, were long overdue at Kings Bay today. There were many rumors concerning them, but all lacked confirmation.

One report was that the fliers had

Remus Walks to Freedom

DECLARED SANE

George Remus, former bootleg king and criminal lawyer, has walked from the Lima State Hospital a free man, declared sane by the Ohio Supreme Court. He has been held since he was found guilty in Cincinnati in his trial in the murder of his wife, Augusta Imogene Holmes Remus. He plead insanity.

HIGH COURT LIBERATES SLAYER

LIMA, O., June 20.—(AP.)—George Remus left the state hospital for the criminal insane today within half an hour after the decision of the Supreme Court giving him his freedom had been telephoned to W. H. Vorbau, superintendent of the hospital.

Remus said he would return at once to Cincinnati and make his home there.

The one-time bootleg chief was working on the hospital farm when word of the decision reached him. Dressed in overalls, he ran to his quarters and began throwing his belongings into his bag.

"It's wonderful, wonderful," he repeated, as he snatched clothing from hooks and piled his books and other possessions on top of them in the grip.

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Declaring that George Remus, alleged wife murderer, is sane, the Ohio State Supreme Court today ordered the immediate release of the former bootleg king from the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

$43,680,000 Bond Issue Boosted At Women's City Club Meeting

Mrs. Babcock

ONE of the largest meetings of women to be held in connection with the peoples' $43,680,000 county bond issue, which will be voted on June 26, took place today in the William Penn Hotel under the auspices of the Women's City Club.

The meeting and luncheon were sponsored by Mrs. E. V. Babcock and Mrs. H. C. McEldowney, president and director, respectively, of the club.

Raymond Marlier, representing the Aero Club, and Attorney Mortimer Lesher, assistant county solicitor, spoke on the different items of the bond issue.

The campaign to have the bond issue approved in its entirety is being sponsored by the Peoples' Bond Issue Association of Allegheny County. Officials of the association urge citizens to vote for all of the seven questions of the issue.

The meeting today is part of the most extensive campaign for a county bond issue in the history of the county. That women are taking an active part in the campaign is evident by the number of meetings held by them since the drive started three weeks ago.

Shortstop Horace Ford, of the great double-play combination of Ford and Critz, is out of at least half the four-game series between the Pirates and Reds which will be inaugurated at Forbes Field this afternoon, weather permitting.

The star of the Rhinelanders left this morning for Boston with the permission of Manager Jack Hendricks, after he had received a telephone call from his wife notifying him of the drowning of her brother and another youth in a Boston lake yesterday. It is unlikely that the player will be back in the Reds' lineup before Saturday, although there is a chance he may get back in time to play Friday.

Pittenger will play shortstop for the Reds during Ford's absence and will bat in the same position as Horace. Either Carman Hill or Ray Kremer will pitch for the Pirates in their home-coming battle today, with Eppa Rixey, elongated lefthander, on the mound for the Reds.

SMITH BACKERS AFTER ONE-BALLOT NOMINATION

UNDERMINED

Seeping water from the rush of water when a 36-inch main at Duquesne way and Ninth street broke has left that vicinity in a "serious situation," it's reported to City Council. It's undermined. Here's the broken main.

CARE

If you drive down—or up!—Duquesne way, watch for this "rut" in the paving. The street was just carried away here and much of the earth beneath washed out by the force of the water. This kind gentleman in the hole indicates its size.

HOLLAND

This isn't Holland, but the slope to the river bank as seen from Duquesne way. The water cut that large canal you see running to the river. There was not, it seems, anyone to put an arm into the dike when it let go and flooded the area.

OPEN DRIVE TO CRUSH FOES IN PARTY

By RAYMOND I. BORST,
International News Service
Staff Correspondent.

HOUSTON, Tex., June 20.—Confident that Gov. Al Smith will be the Democratic party's choice for the presidential nomination at the national convention which gets under way next week, the forces behind the New York executive today were mapping a drive which they hope will bring him victory on the first ballot.

Details of this drive will be worked out as soon as George R. Vannamee, generalissimo of the Smith forces, arrives here late today.

Although the convention is nearly a week away, the Smith people intend to buckle down to hard work immediately. They want to get this city so filled with Smith enthusiasm that when the delegates arrived on the scene early next week, they will get the impression that all that they will have to do is to have a good time, listen to the reading of a short platform, vote for Al Smith and then go home.

WANT QUICK VICTORY

For several weeks, Gov. Smith's backers, particularly those from New York, have contended that he will be nominated on an early ballot. Now they want to put him across on the very first ballot, not only because of the effect they believe it would have on the Democratic party, but because they feel it would go a long way toward helping Smith on next election day.

So convinced are Smith's managers that he will be nominated, that they already are casting about for a running mate for the New York executive. It seems to be the prevailing opinion among the Smith forces that Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, is just the man for second place on the ticket, although most anything may happen before the actual balloting begins which could bring about a change in this situation.

Coraopolis Tax Raise Blamed on Power Sale

DISPOSAL DECRIED

Coraopolis Borough Council increased its tax rate four mills last night. The increase was made necessary, according to Borough Solicitor Herman C. A. Hofacker, because of the sale of the borough's power plant to the Duquesne Light Company last year, which, Hofacker says, took away from the municipal coffers some $50,000 or more a year.

The sale of the power plant has been the subject of much bitterness in councilmanic circles, and efforts are being made to obtain a Federal Trade Commission investigation. Council sold the plant over the wishes of Coraopolis citizens expressed at the polls for $250,000, about a quarter of its actual value, according to Solicitor Hofacker, who pointed out that the plant's annual earning power, in addition to supplying municipal power without cost, was 5 per cent of $1,000,000. The sale was concluded after a bond issue of $250,000 had been approved by the voters for the purpose of enlarging the plant, he said.

"With the $50,000 annual profit from the power plant," Solicitor Hofacker declared, "we were able to operate our municipal affairs with the second lowest tax rate in the state, but with this revenue removed, we are compelled to raise the money some other way."

"Our expenses are the same and in addition we are compelled to pay $12,000 a year for street lights and $8,000 for power to pump water at the borough water plant. This $20,000 added to the $50,000 we lost with the power plant, gives us a gross deficit of $70,000 for the year, but we are compelled to put into force a strict economy program, paring our appropriations to the bone."

Council employed auditors to go over the borough accounts for the past two or three years and they found they could keep this year's appropriations within the 4-mill tax increase. They passed the increase some time ago and Burgess Britz C. Gangloff, who favored the power plant sale, vetoed the tax increase ordinance, declaring he could run the borough on the 10-mill rate.

Council met last night to consider the burgess' veto and passed the bill 6 to 2 over his veto.

Nasty Blackmailers! Made Wilda Wreck Friend's Home Evading 'Em

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 20.

A SUPREME COURT jury heard more today about the sad plight of winsome Wilda Bennett, actress, and—so she says—prey of an international gang of blackmailers. Her tragic predicament caused her—so she says—to barricade herself in Mrs. Charlotte King Palmer's apartment, and keep several savage police dogs near her as a bodyguard.

WILDA BENNETT

The jury, sitting before Justice Jeremiah Mahoney, may retire before nightfall to decide whether, as Mrs. Palmer claims, the actress did damage of $4,000 to her apartment.

Pretty Wilda, her eyes dilating expressively, was positive that her melodramatic precautions, which made a fortress of the Palmer home, saved her from the blackmailers, who threatened repeatedly to hurl acid in her face unless they received $100,000.

Four letters came, she said—

And for three months thugs with caps pulled closely over their eyes stalked in front of the house—

And sometimes as many as four of these "horrible men" trailed her in automobiles.

"I hired police dogs and kept them chained in my rooms. After about three months of the most acute suspense the blackmailers realized they were beaten and bothered me no more."

PACE "TOO FAST" FOR HUMANITY

Unable to stand the strain in attempting to take the heavy grades of modern life in mental high gear, men and women today are succumbing to civilization's ills and are breaking down their nervous systems.

The human machine is not unlike the motor in an automobile, explains Dr. A. A. Brill, famous New York psychiatrist, who is in Pittsburgh to deliver the annual endowment lecture before the American Institute of Homeopathy tonight. Dr. Brill's lecture, "Is Crime a Disease?" before the institute is attracting nation-wide attention in view of the fact that he speaks with the authority as America's acknowledged foremost psychoanalist.

"Why do so many American women suffer from mental collapse?" Dr. Brill repeated a question asked by a Sun-Telegraph reporter, and then replied: "The women are breaking down for the same reason that so many American men suffer mental collapse—but why pick out the Americans? Inhabitants in other nations also are sufferers.

PACE TOO FAST

"Trying to keep pace with present-day civilization is too much for many human organisms and we have the inevitable result in a mental crash. This is nothing new. Roman civilization felt the same scourge and in France we saw its effects in the reign of Louis XIV, and in nearly all European nations today the same results are found.

"The apparent increase in cases of abnormal mental condition is greater than the actual percentage of the prevalence of the disease. Under our system of hospital treatment and board of health records cases are now reported which formerly would not have been brought to public attention.

"This fact is most encouraging. It means that patients are receiving the proper treatment and a far greater proportion will be restored to normal mental health.

"Science is making great strides in the treatment of nervous disorders. We must thank our modern civilization for the progress of science, so after all civilization is providing the means for supplying remedies for its own ills."

MRS. STILLMAN MAY HOP SEA WITH THEA

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Curtiss Field's runway was a stretch of mud today, making it out of the question for Thea Rasche, the flying German fraulein, to take off for Old Orchard, Me., on the first lap of her projected trans-Atlantic flight.

Mrs. James A. Stillman, backing the flight, was at Curtis Field almost all of yesterday with Fraulein Rasche, who waited impatiently all day long in hope that the rainy weather would disappear and permit her to hop off.

Mrs. Stillman was in high spirits, and when asked whether she intended to be a passenger on the flight, refused to answer. She was won over as backer of Miss Rasch about two weeks ago.

Others in the party who will fly to Old Orchard are Ulric Koehlmann, co-pilot, and A. R. Martine, manager. If a hop is made in the Bellanca North Star today, it will be between 1 and 2 p. m.

From Old Orchard Miss Rasche will take off for Berlin.

REMUS GETS FREEDOM

Remus, on the ground of insanity. During the trial tate alienists had declared that Remus was not insane, but the trial judge, in charging the jury, declared that the only not guilty verdict compatible would be on the grounds of insanity.

Immediately upon Remus' arrival at Lima, his attorneys brought habeas corpus proceedings and attempted to show that the former bootleg millionaire was sane, as state alienists had testified during the murder trial.

In ordering the release of Remus the Supreme Court voted four to three to affirm the judgment of the Court of Appeals, which several weeks ago, acting upon habeas corpus proceedings, ruled that Remus was sane and ordered his release.

HELD BY INJUNCTION

Following the decision of the Allen County Court of Appeals, the Supreme Court issued an injunction on the application of Attorney General Turner, of Ohio, which held Remus a prisoner in the asylum until today's decision.

Mrs. Remus was shot October 6 in Cincinnati, while en route to the Court of Domestic Relations where the Remus divorce petition was to be heard.

Immediately after the shooting Remus drove to police headquarters and surrendered.

During the murder trial, which opened November 14, Remus never denied the shooting, but pleaded temporay insanity. His attorneys sought to prove that Remus' mental condition was brought about by his wife's infidelity and machinations with Franklin Dodge, former federal prohibition agent.

BOND ISSUE BOOSTED

The county's proposed bond issue of $43,680,000 is a sound business proposition, declared Commissioner E. V. Babcock in an addres before a community meeting in Ben Avon High School last night.

In urging support of the town hall project, Mr. Babcock pointed out that the Republican national convention brought $3,000,000 to Kansas City. The town hall is only one of seven major items in the proposed bond issue.

Other speakers included John W. Vickerman, Park H. Martin, Benjamin Moore and James C. Chaplin, president of the Peoples' Bond Issue Association of Allegheny County.

A meeting to boost the county bond issue will be held in Lemington public school tomorrow night under the auspices of the Lincoln District Board of Trade. In addition to talks explaining the bond program, there will be moving pictures of Yellowstone National Park and songs by a children's chorus of Lemington school. Children will be admitted if accompanied by parents.

Sun-Tele Tourneyin Schenley

The first annual Sun-Telegrah-West Penn junior amateur golf tournament for the William Randolph Hearst trophy will be played on the municipal links in Schenley Park, Thursday, July 12.

More than 300 boys will compete in two divisions, the Junior Class for boys 15 to 18 and the Sub-Junior Class for boys 14 and under.

City Council has passed a resolution warding the use of the public course to The Sun-Tele for the purpose of encouraging junior competition through the medium of the tournament. The tournament also was approved by Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang. John Jay Burke, executive committeeman of the public links section, United States Golf Association, appeared before Council, urging that body's co-operation toward making the event the huge success it promises to be. Almost 60 entries already have been received for the tournament.

RUMOR UNCONFIRMED

Rumors in Oslo that Amundsen and his companions had found Gen. Umberto Nobile subsided when neither the Norwegian government nor the French or Italian legation nor Amundsen's family could confirm them. The radio stations in Spitzbergen and northern Norway had received nothing. Official quarters in Rome, which are in communication with Nobile through the base ship Citta Di Milano, had no such report.

After unsuccessful efforts of the Norwegian seaplanes piloted by Capt. Riiser-Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm and the Italian flying boat piloted by Maj. Maddalena to locate Gen. Nobile and his marooned party to the north of Spitzbergen, Commandant Romagna of the Citta Di Milano realized today that it was necessary to determine upon some special means to enable Nobile to make known his position to fliers. Nobile has seen the fliers on each attempt, but has been unable to attract their attention to his party.

The fliers said that they were encountering great difficulties in looking for the marooned men and their tent among the ice floes and the water lanes between them. The sun shining brightly on the ice made observations almost impossible.

Special apparatus was prepared to drop smoke bombs from the planes near the position where Nobile was supposed to be. It was thought the General could then set these off to indicate his location to the fliers.

"Other centers that have contributed far less than Pittsburgh in the development of aviation have been quick to recognize the need of a suitable airport, and this would seem to be Pittsburgh's obligation toward aviation right now." —RICHARD E. BYRD.

RICHARD E. BYRD

RICHARD E. BYRD, aviator and explorer, descendant of a family prominent in Virginia for the last 300 years, was born October 25, 1890, at Winchester, Va.; educated at the United States Naval Academy. Was a member of the McMillan polar expedition and was the first man to fly across the North Pole, May 9, 1926. In 1927 made a successful flight across the Atlantic. Is preparing for an Antarctic expedition.

Pittsburgh, as the center of the steel industry, already has contributed much to the success of aviation through research, and in the furnishing of raw materials used in the development and manufacture of our present day efficient aircraft engines and other aviation steel products.

Other centers that have contributed far less than Pittsburgh in the development of aviation have been quick to recognize the need of a suitable airport, and this would seem to be Pittsburgh's obligation toward aviation right now.

SHOPPING LURES FLIER

International News Service.

LONDON, June 20.—This was a day of continual ovations in London for Miss Amelia Earhart, American heroine of the skies, and the first woman to fly the Atlantic in an airplane. Miss Earhart, for the time being, forgot aviation and turned her attention to fashionable gowns, Parisian hats and chic shoes. She went shopping.

Tired out by the long flight and the two tumultuous greetings accorded her and her two companions in the trans-ocean monoplane Friendship at Southampton and London, the comely young American aviatrix slept late.

As was the case with Col. Lindbergh when he flew to Paris, she had limited her wardrobe to the clothing she wore upon the flight. When she appeared in the hotel dining room for breakfast she wore a borrowed crepe de chine gown of flowered material.

"I feel rested now," she told her friends. "I had a good night's sleep. Nervous? Not a bit. I expect to have a glorious time the next few days."

MESSAGES POUR IN

Although Miss Earhart gave full credit for the success of the flight to Pilot Wilmer Stultz and Mechanician Louis Gordon, the two male members of the Friendship's crew were put into the background by the repeated ovations and honors heaped upon the American girl. This did not please Miss Earhart at all. In her opinion, "Bill" Stultz and "Slim" Gordon should have equal recognition.

Hundreds of messages of congratulation poured into the Hyde Park Hotel from the United States for Miss Earhart. She laughingly admitted that two of them contained proposals of marriage. However, the Boston girl is already engaged, according to news from America.

Miss Earhart was besieged by English and American newspaper correspondents.

"I intend to do some flying here," she told the reporters. "I am keenly interested in every aspect of aviation and I want to study European methods to see how they compare with America's. I am especially interested in the small type of plane known as the Moth. It is possible that I may make a flying tour of the United States when I return home, but that is indefinite."

FETED BY BACKER

The day's program included an informal luncheon given by Mrs. Frederick E. Guest, wealthy patroness of the Friendship's flight, for Miss Earhart, Pilot Stultz and Mechanician Gordon. This was followed by the shopping tour, where the feminine instinct of the famous aviatrix won out completely over her interest in triple-motored planes, steering instruments and fuselage gadgets.

Miss Earhart said that if she had time she wanted to visit Croydon airdrome late in the day. It is there that the great commercial lines radiating out of England to the continent converge.

This evening Miss Earhart will attend a dinner at the home of Mrs. Guest, later going to a dance at the Embassy Club.

While it was learned that Miss Earhart would be received by the King and Queen, the "official" program of her visit did not include this event. She will be the guest of Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton, wife of the United States Ambassador, on June 23, and two days later will be honor guest at a luncheon given by Lady Heath in behalf of British women fliers.

Dog Victims

PHOTOS BY SUN-TELE

ELLIOTT

Three children and a woman were bitten by a dog which ran amuck in Elliott. The animal was clubbed to death after it had attacked Mary Jane Schrolz, 12, 1107 Lakewood avenue, in her father's hardware store, Lorenz and Chartiers avenue. Above are two of the victims, Regis Sullivan, 5, 1120 Strahley place, and Anthony Vitaly, 6, 1029 Pinerue street.

3,000 ASK JUBILEE PICNIC TICKETS

Three thousand Sun-Tele coupons in! Even if nobody else comes, there is certain to be a great crowd at the Sun-Tele's mammoth picnic at National Amusement Park, above Aspinwall, on Tuesday, July 3.

But more will come and they are coming—they're sending coupons by the bushel and the Jubilee Manager and his assistants are addressing envelopes at the rate of about 10 every minute. In these envelopes will be placed the tickets for the park and admissions to the special attractions. The tickets will be mailed in bulk and you may look for their delivery early next week.

One boy wants to know if his ticket will be good on the railroad train from Uniontown as well as for admission to the park. Perhaps he was not joking, so for his benefit and that of all other boys and girls the Jubilee Manager wants it made plain that the tickets will be good only for admission to the park and for free rides on the merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, aeroplane swings and other park attractions as well as for a balloon and a French vanilla bar, "the cream of the valley," which everyone knows is a delicious ice cream. The tickets are good for a regular circus at the park, but, of course, are not good on trains, street cars or buses.

Several young friends of the Sun-Tele say that people in their neighborhoods are planning to take them to the park in automobiles. Many of the parents are planning to bring the children in family cars, and in some instances they boys have formed little clubs and have arranged with the grocer to take them in his truck. There will be no difficulty about transportation. Allegheny Valley street cars pass the park and there is a station on the Pennsylvania Railroad not far distant.

Just watch this column and information will be given from day to day, telling how to reach they park and giving suggestions for your going.

If you haven't sent your coupon, clip the one from this page, fill it out plainly and mail it to the Jubilee Manager at once.

JUBILEE MANAGER, SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

I would like to attend The Sun-Telegraph Boys' and Girls' Jubilee July 3.

My folks are regular readers of The Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh's greatest newspaper.

Please mail a ticket with the 14 coupons—good for admission to 12 amusement attractions and for the "Cream of the Valley" French Vanilla Ice Cream Bar, also the balloon.

Fay King Stresses Value of Genuine Sincerity

By FAY KING

NOTHING succeeds like sincerity! Don't waste time assuming a personality or imitating someone else. Be yourself!

Be sincere in your ways, your thoughts, your mannerisms. For sincerity is a source, like the beginning of a great river, and flows on forever.

There are persons who for a while can manufacture a very attractive personality, a very fascinating picture, or pretend to very interesting ideas and quote and copy. They are like a very fine carbon copy or a composite picture of something else that is not themselves.

But they must forever depend on their tributary sources, and, sooner or later, they run dry, or, in a crisis, their false notes can be fatal.

But when you are sincere you need never fear.

Education can give you a fund of fancy phrases. But real feeling can express itself fluently even in silence.

A man may use bad grammar, but if he knows what he is talking about and feels his subject in his heart, he will express himself in a way that will enlighten a college professor.

Be sincere!

Sincerity is always the same and fears no investigation!

PITT EXTENDS NIGHT CLASS REGISTRATION

Registration in the evening summer courses of the University of Pittsburgh, given in the downtown division in the Chamber of Commerce Building, will continue all of this week, Dr. Vincent W. Lanfear, director of the downtown division, announces. The extension of the registration period was granted by university authorities because of confusion which existed concerning dates for registration. Registration was scheduled to close in the evening school division last Saturday and classes were begun on Monday. More than 150 students have already enrolled for evening courses.

BALDWIN TWP. SECTION ANNEXATION OPPOSED

Opposition has developed over the proposed annexation of a part of Baldwin township to Pittsburgh. Monday a petition was presented to council signed by more than 180 residents of a part of the township. They asked that the section they lived in be annexed to the city. Yesterday council received a letter signed by a number of residents protesting the proposed annexation. The signers asked that no action be taken until a hearing is held and both sides heard. Council agreed to set a date for a hearing later.

The American Oil Company,

Gentlemen:

We take great pleasure in informing you that our chain of department stores has been obtaining excellent results in the constant use of AMOCO Products.

It is essential, of course, that an organization maintaining a large number of trucks keep an accurate account of operating costs. In Pittsburgh, where we have been using your products for the past few years, we have noticed a remarkable saving in mileage as well as in mechanical repairs. In Philadelphia, we have noticed a remarkable saving in mileage as well as in mechanical repairs. In Philadelphia, the same results have been obtained during the past year. Trucks in both cities have shown lower cost per mile while using your products.

Naturally, we are more than satisfied both with AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil, as well as the excellent service we have been receiving from your company.

Yours very truly,
FRANK & SEDER, INC.
Per ..... President.

AMOCO-GAS

The trucks of Frank & Seder are familiar sights in the two largest Pennsylvania cities--Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

And whether battling the hills of Pittsburgh or the traffic of Philadelphia's crowded streets--AMOCO-GAS is in the tank of every Frank & Seder truck!

You'll notice that in their letter, Frank & Seder credit AMOCO-GAS with a "remarkable saving in mileage as well as in mechanical repairs." And that trucks in both cities using AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil "have shown lower cost per mile while using your products."

There's no guesswork about it. Frank & Seder know. That's why, in common with other truck fleet owners, they've made AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil their choice--and stick to it!

THRILLER SHOWN WITH NEWS FILM

Machine guns chatter fiercely as sworn enemies meet in bitter conflict in "The Drag Net," now playing at the Liberty Theater, in East Liberty. George Bancroft is cast in one of his most dramatic roles in this high-voltage melodrama of the fight to the death between police and an organized band of criminals.

Eddie Cooke and the Shaw Sisters, Gladys and Dorothy, of Ziegfeld Follies' fame, add to the attractiveness of the performance with a series of songs, dances and harmonized melodies.

One of the most interesting as well as educational news reels ever presented adds a final climax to the bill. It is "The Making of a Newspaper," showing the various processes going into newspaper production. The two reels carry the theater patrons along with the reporter and photographer, back into the office and to the various departments through which every news story passes.

POLICE GRILL SUSPECT IN ATTEMPTED BOMBING

Suspected of having attempted to dynamite the home of his wife's parents after he was said to have wounded her with a bullet, Charles Manti, 29, of Coraopolis, is being questioned today by borough police. He was arrested yesterday in Neville Island. Police say he shot his wife, Mrs. Bertha Manti, 15, in the heel, May 29. Two weeks later 14 sticks of dynamite were found under a basement window of the home of Joseph Chiodo, of 804 Montour street, Coraopolis, father of Mrs. Manti.

SIXTH ST. SPAN LIGHTING AWARDED

County Commissioners approved an agreement with the Duquesne Light Company to furnish and maintain lights on the Sixth Street Bridge, now under construction. Twenty-eight 400-candlepower lamps and light posts and eight 400-candlepower lamps with brackets will be installed. The yearly maintenance will be $1,980.

McKeesport-Duquesne Bridge, spanning Monongahela River, will be opened to traffic about August 15, Director of Public Works Norman F. Brown notified County Commissioners. A celebration in which County Commissioners, officials of McKeesport and Duquesne and residents of both communities will participate, will mark the opening of the span.

The Pitt Construction Company was awarded a contract for paving and construction of the east abutment of Duquesne viaduct and removal of the old span.

SWISSVALE WOMAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Struck last night by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad passenger train at the Hays borough crossing, Mrs. Margaret Goff, 62, of 7522 Center street, Swissvale, was killed almost instantly. The woman, according to relatives, had been visiting friends in Hays. She died en route to Homestead Hospital.

PRODUCE YARDS TO BE MADE LARGER

Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang and the city law department were requested by council yesterday to file with them a recommendation concerning the establishing of a modern freight and produce terminal by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, on a tract of land bounded by Eleventh, Pike and Twenty-first streets and the Allegheny River.

Officials of the railroad and council discussed the improvement yesterday. The railroad proposes to construct the terminal at the earliest possible time. To do so it would necessitate the vacation of six streets.

TO WIDEN STREETS

The development will mean the widening of Pike Street from Eleventh street to Seventeenth street 60 feet. The width of the street is now 40 feet. The railroad, should council grant them permission and order the six streets vacated, would finance the cost of grading and paving Etna street from Eleventh street to Thirteenth street; Thirteenth street from Pike street to Etna street and Sixteenth street from Pike street to Sixteenth Street Bridge.

Council will visit the site in a body and make a study of the development. The director and law department were asked to file their recommendations not later than next Tuesday.

URGES ADDITION TO WOODVILLE

Urging an addition to the hospital at the Allegheny County Home and Hospital, Woodville, to take care of patients suffering from contagious diseases, Dr. J. P. Kerr, president physician at St. Joseph's Hospital, informed County Commissioners yesterday that the present facilities were inadequate.

Dr. Kerr pointed out that a number of members of coal miners' families were stricken with contagious diseases last winter and difficulty was encountered caring for them at hospitals. At present, Dr. Kerr said, patients suffering with contagious diseases are being admitted to city hospitals.

A conference between County Commissioners and the County Poor Board will be held next week.

WALSH CAN'T BE FIRED, COUNCIL ADVISED

Council has no power to suspend Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh or any other police official. This was the unanimous opinion of councilmen expressed yesterday, when a communication from the Allegheny County League of Women Voters, asking the suspension of the superintendent was read. The letter was signed by Della B. Hershey, chairman of a committee of the league.

The demand was prompted by the indictment of Superintendent Walsh in the Federal grand jury rum ring investigation.

"The league well knows that council has no jurisdiction to suspend the superintendent," Councilman P. J. McArdle declared. "Because a man is indicted that does not say he is guilty," Councilman Daniel Winters said. "No man is guilty until convicted." The communication was ordered received and filed.

FEDERAL AGENTS RAID 2 BRADDOCK SALOONS

Visiting Braddock, the scene of recent raids, government agents last night raided two saloons and a residence. Seizures and an arrest were made at each place, the agents said. A saloon at 636 Braddock avenue and another at 1236 Braddock avenue were the reputed barrooms visited. The dwelling was in Washington avenue.

Do You Know What a Woman of 30 Should Weigh?

It all depends on her height, of course.

If she is 5 feet 7 inches in height she should weigh, according to the best authorities, 142 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 5 inches her normal weight is 134 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 3 inches she should weight 127 pounds.

It's dangerous to be always striving to grow thin—the Adirondack Mountains and health resorts everywhere are filled with health shattered women who will tell you that it doesn't pay to be too thin.

That is why so many thousands of underweight men and women are putting their faith in McCoy's Tablets.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two one-dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

Pittsburgh Man Ends 30 Years' Suffering By Using Famous Ten Herbs.

"Although I am 55 years old, Ten Herbs has made me feel as if I were 20," was the statement of Mr. Bernard Williams, 32 Irwin Street, Crafton Heights, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue.

MR. BERNARD WILLIAMS

Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this famous natural medicine to crowds of men and women.

"For more than 30 years I suffered from stomach, liver and kidney trouble," Mr. Williams continued. "During that time I was in several hospitals and spent thousands of dollars for medical aid, but I never got any noticeable results. My appetite was poor, and I could not sleep properly. I suffered with indigestion, and my kidneys gave me a lot of trouble. I had given up hope of ever being able to get any relief.

"I was advised to try Ten Herbs, and I started using your medicine. I am now on the third bottle, and there has been a great change for the better. My appetite is good, and food digests properly. My kidneys seem to be in perfect condition. I shall be glad to tell anyone what Ten Herbs has done for me, if they will call at my address. I urge all who suffer as I did to give your medicine a trial, as I feel sure it will do as much for them as it did for me."

Ten Herbs must be highly beneficial to the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, or people in this section would not go on buying it in such amazing quantities. Get a bottle today and you may never again say, "Nothing can help me." Ten Herbs is pleasant to take, and cleansing and soothing in action.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

The Presentation of Midsummer Silks

Planned from beginning to end as a Fashion Event. One of our stylists accompanied the buyer on his recent visit to some 50 manufacturers and importers of silks, on which these interesting things were discovered. They represent the developments which have occurred since the beginning of the season, when most "midsummer" stocks were selected, and consequently they are just a bit newer, a bit smarter than anything you may have seen.

Suggestions for Summer Wardrobes

Navy Blue Dresses

A Wide Choice of Them

At least one navy blue dress in every wardrobe, is the almost inevitable rule, for besides being the most practical of colors, navy blue has a broad fashion significance this summer.

In the Women's Finer Dress Section there is wide choice of frocks which show how effective navy blue can be when fine fabrics and superior designing are combined. They are of georgette, crepe Elizabeth and the heavier crepes, and are priced $39.50, $49.50, $55.00, $59.50 and $75.00.

Frocks of Crepe Gobi Washable—$19.50

Crepe gobi is a delightful, washable silk of sportsy appearance, fine and supple but with a certain sturdiness, and dresses of it will serve many, many purposes in the summer wardrobe.
In this "Sunshine Corner" group, there are one and two-piece models of tailored and semi-sports spirit, in white, flesh, rose, Chin Chin blue, maize, orchid and green.

Black-and-White

Featured in Women's Printed Silk Frocks

Women who wear black-and-white as a matter of smart preference, those who are just emerging from sable mourning, and others who are looking for black-and-white and black-and-gray dresses to accompany gray travel coats, find it most satisfactory to choose them in our individual Black-and-White Dress Section.

Here is a collection in the all-over photo prints and pen-scratch prints, ombre stripes, and prints with bold white designs on a black ground. One and two-piece models, priced $25.00 and $29.50.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

SELF-MADE SLAVES

WELL—it's long skirts and long hair again! And face veils and femininity! Back to the buckram and whalebones, ladies! Back to the harem and hairpins!

The great mystery of the sexes is not that men ruled the world for so long, but how women ever stopped changing their minds long enough to get the ballot or anything else.

* * *

Women are the champion wasters and energy dissipators of the world! They yelp for "freedom" in one breath—and clamor to know the latest "dictates" from Paris in the next. They protest with their voices—and rush to obey with their pocketbooks!

HELEN ROWLAND

They are perfect gluttons for slavery!

Not that the vanishing of knees and shaved necks won't be a relief to the eyes. It WILL! It will be the greatest impetus to romance that fashion could possibly devise. When legs become a "treat" to bus conductors, perhaps other men won't yawn at sight of them.

But a MAN wouldn't waste 40 seconds of honest thought on a thing—like the length of his coat or his trousers. If he liked long sleeves or long hair or long beards or long trousers, he'd accept them. If he didn't, no power on earth could thrust them upon him.

It has been more than 30 years since there has been half an inch change in the length of men's coats or the height of their collars. Twenty years ago men stopped parting their hair in the middle and began parting it on the side. And that's where all he-men are still parting it.

* * *

In that time, women have changed from bangs and buns to pompadours and puffs; from pompadours to "fish-hooks" and marcel waves; from fish-hooks to boyish-bobs—and now they are going back to long hair and buns again.

* * *

Men's tailors wouldn't have the nerve and audacity to suggest a more radical change than an extra button on men's coats every five or six years. And even when a man agrees to that, he feels that he is making a terrible concession to the fashions.

* * *

A woman will spend more previous times, strength and energy in selecting a pair of pumps or a pair of hose to match them than a man would use up in buying a factory or hunting for a lost golf ball. She will waste more golden moments in choosing a hat than a man would waste in choosing a house, a wife, a motor car or a religion.

* * *

A woman lets the little details of life, and above all the ever-changing styles, absorb her soul, fill her mind and eat up her days, years, youth and strength. And then she wonders why men manage to do more work, and yet have more freedom, more comfort, more fun and more time for PLAY than she does!

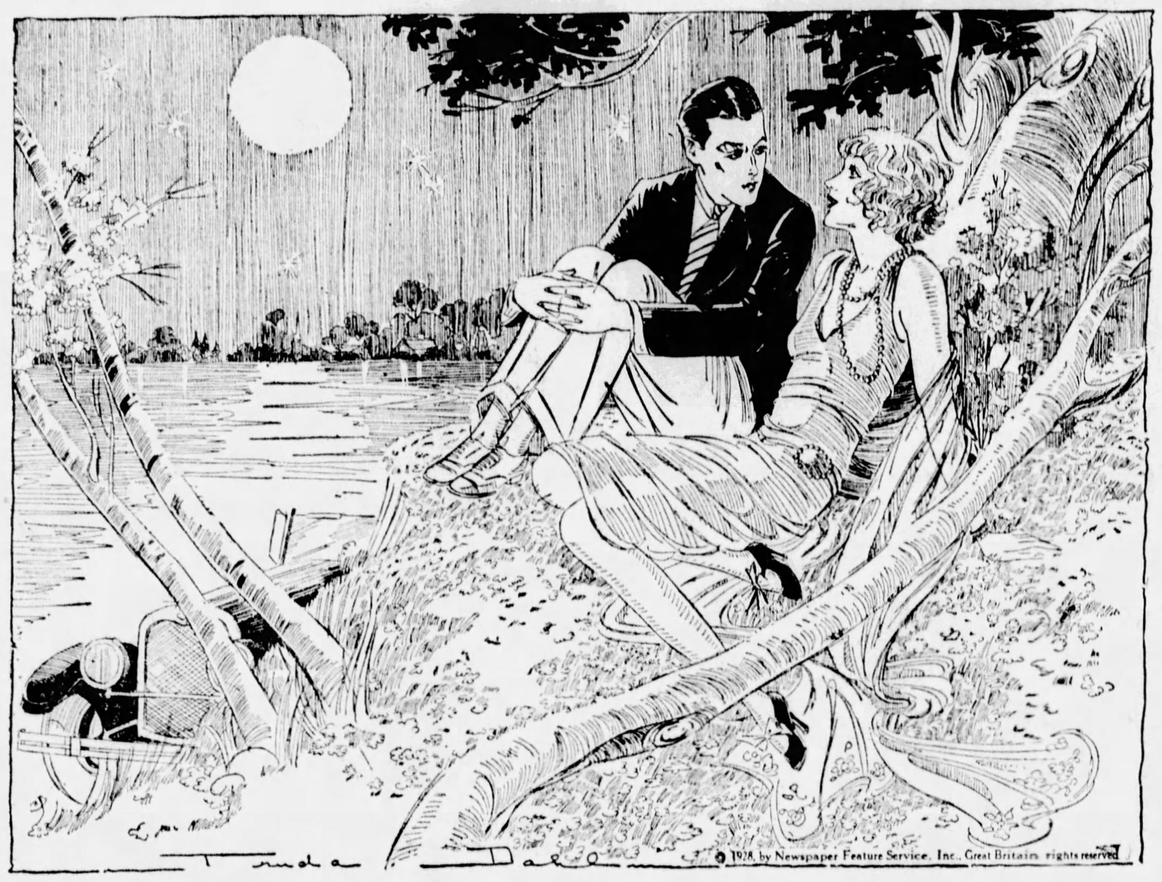
MOON MAGIC

By Truda Dahl



WHY is it that when the silver beams of the moon touch even the most prosaic things in Nature, they are immediately transformed into an almost unearthly beauty? Magic? Perhaps it is, but nevertheless it's so. And perhaps that's why the moon is the lover's friend. For when her beams shine on two who are in love and beautify everything around them, they are under her spell so completely that it is no wonder that then they get the courage to speak all the love words that they have dreamed but never uttered.

Moon magic! The most wonderful magic of all, for it always brings happiness! And two who find their way to Love and everlasting happiness under her beams always remember with a soft little sigh the magic of those witching gleams that so bewitched them and wove around them the spell of unending happiness that spells bliss.

Horoscope

Thursday, June 21

ACCORDING to the interesting sidereal operations preliminating by lunar and mutual aspect, this should be a lively day and one of much recognition and return for past diligent effort and patience. It may come in the form of preferment, promotion or substantial reward from elderly persons or institutions, and may have pleasant personal demonstrations. Make new contracts, but change slowly.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of activity, in connection with honors, rewards or emoluments earned by hard labor, diligence and patience. Possibly old institutions or elderly persons may be the benefactors.

A child born on this day may be practical and industrious, dependable and trustworthy as well as having many cultural or unusual accomplishments.

Dressy and Sporty

The short jacket has now achieved an important place in the mode. Seen especially for evening wear, this attractive coat is still enough of a novelty to bring forth admiring comment. Usually of the same material as the frock it goes with, it can always be removed at will. And it is being seen with dressy afternoon frocks and sports costumes as well.

Why Custard Curdles

Boiled custard curdles because the mixture is allowed to reach boiling point. The custard should be stirred over hot water until it thickens, but it must never be allowed to boil, or the eggs will immediately curdle.

Straight Lines Out

Slowly but surely the silhouette is changing. What with the sharply defined hips and the deliberate waistlines, the straight, tailored line will soon be definitely out.

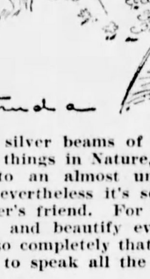
Many a Man Died in Spasm of Rage

HEALTH and normal function depend on proper circulation of the blood through the body and its every part. Many disabilities can be traced to disturbances in the blood supply. Too much blood or too little blood may be a cause for trouble.



DR. COPELAND

If there is too much blood, we have congestion. If too little blood there is anemia. The former condition, if it affects the head, produces a symptom sometimes spoken of as "a rush of blood to the head."

There are two kinds of congestion. The first is due to an increase in the red blood, the arterial blood. The second is caused by some obstruction to the escape of the venous blood. The former condition is called active congestion, the second, passive congestion.

Congestion of the brain is a painful thing. It makes itself known by headache and dizziness. In more severe attacks there may be convulsions and disturbance of the sight or hearing.

There are sometimes sparks and flashes of light before the eyes. The pupils are contracted and there may be redness and burning of the eyes.

You know how the ears roar and buzz if you take a large dose of quinine. There is a similar trouble in congestion of the brain.

In this ailment there are redness of the face, restlessness and sleeplessness usually. If the victim falls asleep there are frightful dreams, night terrors in children, and grinding and grating of the teeth.

There is apt to be confusion of the mind. Concentrated thought is impossible.

All the symptoms are made worse by lying down, because the recumbent position increases the congestion of the brain. Sitting up gives some relief.

There may be congestion of the brain due to temporary or passing causes. For instance, violent anger may cause a rush of blood to the head. You have seen a quick-tempered person get so red in the face as to give the countenance a purple color. Even the whites of the eyes become reddened. The back of the neck and the ears show the color.

It is dangerous to give way to anger. Young people may not suffer materially, but if they permit this bad habit to grow upon them, it will be a menace to health and life in advanced age. Many a man has died from brain hermorrhage due to over-congestion of the brain in a fit of anger. I have seen several cases of serious bleeding from a ruptured vessel in the retina of the eye caused by the congestion due to anger.

The tiny blood vessels of the brain have thin and very delicate walls. Nature has provided a reserve wherever she builds. This means, so far as the brain is concerned, that its blood vessels will withstand a reasonable degree of congestion, but under exceptional circumstances they will give way.

ELINOR GLYN tells the TRUTH about

Teaching the Laws of Justice

ELINOR GLYN

TO GO on about justice—many people can only see it in relation to themselves, and not in regard to other people. It is quite as unjust for the servant or employe to idle and give bad service, having agreed to do certain things for a certain sum, as it is for the employer to overwork and skimp pay, or force a mean wage upon necessitous aspirants. But the unthinking employe is quite ready to feel bitter and accuse the employer of injustice without remembering his own responsibilities—and the unjust employer rages against his bad workman and never realizes it is his own fault, probably, and that he, too, on his side, is cheating.

There is a frightful obligation upon all parents and trainers of the young, to teach this simple principle of justice. It should be the first law drummed into their heads after truth, which is its twin brother. If as much trouble were taken to make children understand these two things so that their subconscious minds were saturated with the principles—as is taken to teach them to read, imagine the generation of noble beings which would evolve! There would be no more judges taking bribes to give certain verdicts, there would be no more clever lawyers getting obviously guilty criminals off, no more scheming businesmen depriving unsuspecting clients of their gains, no more any of the cruel and odious frauds which ruin lives.

For the subconscious mind of a child duly impressed with an idea will automatically act up to that belief in later life. Thus, is it not obvious that the future of the race's advancement lies in the hands of the parents and instructors in each generation? Do not have children if you have not time to train them well.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Wondering

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have come to you for advice at last. I have been wondering for sometime whom to go to, but at last I have found a good adviser. I am a young girl still in my teens and am in love with two boys. I shall call one A and one B. A and I are at present not speaking, but B and I are going together. Sometimes I could scream when I think of how much I care for them both. B has a machine and a great deal of money. His parents are rich. But A does not have a machine or very much money and poor parents. But that doesn't worry me. I still love him as much as ever. Now here is my problem. Before I was going with B I met A. I went with him about one year. We quarreled off and on, but I still love him and he still cares some for me, although we aren't speaking. His boy friends knows I go with B now. A's boy friend told me the other evening that A sometimes says he could beat anybody up that comes near me. So I still have some hopes of going with him again. But A will not go with me unless he can have me to himself and B feels the same. But I love them both and couldn't give either up. But I think I care a least bit better for A. I know B loves me. I will close wondering what I should do. I am WONDERING.

Neither boy has the right to dictate your friendships, my dear, so why not let matters go as they are. You are not in love with either of them or you wouldn't be in doubt about it. But "not speaking" is childish, so if I were you I should speak to the first boy next time you see him.

Hard to Get

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a high school girl—supposed to be good-looking, a good dancer, an interesting talker, and not too slow. I could go out a lot more than I do, but I never give a fellow a date unless I really like him a good bit. I have found that the so-called "popular" girls are the ones who take dates with just anyone who asks them, but I do not think that is fair to encourage a fellow unless you really want to be his friend. What do you think about it, Miss Gale? I agree with you that it is wrong to drink, but I get a kick out of smoking and necking, though I do not indulge in the latter promiscuously. I do not believe that people of my age should go "steady"—because a little competition never did any "love-affair" any harm, but I do think that girls should not give fellows dates just for the sake of having dates and not because they like the fellows. I used to be "everybody's girl," but now I am HARD TO GET.

You are right about the "popularity" of some girls, my dear. But I am sorry you don't agree with me about petting.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Receptions, Parties and Breakfasts Deluge Calendars of Belated June Brides

WITH just 11 days left this year in which girls of the younger set may become brides of June, it's not a bit surprising that sometimes as many as three events are scheduled for one day for one bride-to-be. And when a society girl has named this Saturday as her wedding date, she's sure to be much feted every hour of the 24 right up to the hour of the ceremony.

Attractive Eleanor Winter is a typical, much-feted June bride. Her wedding, as you surely know, is on Saturday, when she will become the bride of John Birge, of Schenectady.

Now added to the long list of parties in her honor, we hear that the Raymond N. Ehrharts of the Schenley Apartments will entertain at a dinner in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club tomorrow night in honor of Eleanor her fiance, and their attendants.

And at noon Saturday Mrs. William S. Elliott of Woodland road will give a breakfast in the Longue Vue Country Club.

THERE will be many out-of-town guests here for the wedding of the younger daughter of the Frederick W. Winters. Among them will be a number of friends and relatives of Mr. Birge. The Nathan Root Birges, of Schenectady, parents of Eleanor's fiance, will of course come on for the wedding. Mrs. Peverly Ford and Ann Ford, of Schenectady; Mrs. John Ford, of Waterford, New York; Mrs. Arthur Alny and Lenora Alny of New York; Alice Lovelace, of Chicago; Mrs. James Keller, of Easton, Pa.; John Carrere, of Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Jennings, of Detroit; Robert Leedy, Jr., of Youngstown, and Margaret Frail, of Erie, are among others who will, I understand, attend the wedding.

A DEMURE little flower girl is second in attractiveness, don't you think, in a bridal party to the bride alone? Lida Brickell Repp, who is going to marry Dr. Edward Harper Rynearson, son of the Edward Rynearsons, must agree, for she had decided to have the very young generation represented at her wedding by little Mary Josephine, daughter of the Frank Richmond Waltons of Hampton street, who will be a flower girl.

By the way, the Charles Duren Rawstornes and their daughter Sally will give a tea in the Pittsburgh Country Club Sunday for Lida and her bridal party.

NOW that we have talked about brides for a while, I'm reminded of an interesting engagement. The Eugene S. Reillys, of Wightman street, have announced the betrothal of their daughter, Katherine Mary, to B. Meredith Reid, son of Judge and Mrs. Ambrose B. Reid, of the Darlington apartments. Katherine was graduated from Eden Hall, Torresdale, Pa., and her fiance from Georgetown University and the University of Pittsburgh Law School. He is now one of the assistant district attorneys of the county.

GARDEN parties usually appeal chiefly to the feminine members of society, but the garden party to be given under the direction of the Civic Club of Allegheny County Saturday on the beautiful grounds of Mrs. William Thaw, Jr.'s, Sewickley Heights home, "As You Like It," will be an exception, I hear. Since two-thirds of the membership of the Civic Club is masculine, Maurice B. Scharff, the president, believes there will be many men at this affair, so much in keeping with the month of June. And Mr. Scharff has suggested that an afternoon spent in the exquisite rose gardens of the Thaw home will be a delightful diversion from the usual golf.

AND I have just heard of another June wedding. Florence Eleanor McNeill, daughter of the Junior Thomas McNeills, and Thomas Ormonde Nichols, of Clarksville, Md., were married in Clarksville Saturday by the Rev. A. Howard Bishop. Frances Virginia McNeill was her sister's bridesmaids.

The bride wore a white chiffon gown, a large white picture hat, and carried roses and lilies of the valley. Thomas McNeill, Jr., father of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McNeill IV, were at the wedding. Now the Nichols are "honeymooning" at Bar Harbor, Maine.

THE marriage of Miss Genevieve Agnes Power, of Cleveland, daughter of the late Dr. Martin Francis Power, of Gettysburg College, and Felix A. Grisette, of Pittsburgh, was solemnized yesterday at 6 o'clock in the bride's home. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Prof. William S. McCullough, wore yellow georgette and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor, Miss Ruth Baily, of Pittsburgh, appeared in blue georgette and carried American Beauty roses. The flower girl was Jane McCollough, niece of the bride. Aubrey S. Wolford, of this city, was best man. A reception at the Hotel Westlake followed the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Grisette left for a tour of New England and Canada. They will make their home in North Balph avenue, Bellevue.

THE marriage of Miss Kathryn Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolff, of Brighton road, and J. Edward McDonagh, son of Mrs. Margaret McDonagh, of North Craig street, was solemnized Monday evening at 9:30 o'clock in St. Cyril of Alexander Church. The bride wore duchesse satin and chantilly lace, with a tulle veil held with a cap and seed pearls and orange blossoms, and she carried white roses showered with lilies of the valley. Mrs. Clarence Mentil was matron of honor, wearing coral chiffon and carrying pink roses and blue delphinium. The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Clyman, wore yellow taffeta and carried a similar bouquet, while the flower girl, Betty Jane Lamb, wore blue taffeta with a bonnet to match and carried a basket of pink roses. Joseph Olliffe, of Athens, O., was best man and the ushers included Edward Kelly and James O'Connor, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. McDonagh are taking a lake trip and after August 1 will be at home in the Wolff apartments, Brighton road.

THE wedding of Miss Helen Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Best, of Fifth avenue, and Dr. Erhart Ruedeman, of Albany, N. Y., will take place tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Best home with the Rev. Dr. P. W. Snyder, of Dormont, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Dr. C. Carson Bransby, of the Homewood Presbyterian Church. A reception and dinner will follow the ceremony in the Pittsburgh Country Club. Miss Polly Malone, of Gary, Ind., will be maid of honor and the flower girl will be Helen Myers, of Leechburg. Dr. Otis Ruedeman, of Cleveland, is to be best man and the ushers will include C. Thomas Best, Samuel Evans of Watson boulevard; Dr. R. S. Ruedeman, of Dayton, O., and Robert Myers, of Jeannette. Miss Dolores Myers, of Jeannette, will play the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas Best will give the rehearsal dinner tonight in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

MISS ANNETTA REBECCA DUNBAR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Garrett Dunbar, of Carnegie, has chosen June 30 as the date of her marriage to William Rea Grove, of Carnegie. The ceremony will be preformed in the Dunbar home and will be followed by a reception. Miss Margaret Dempster, of Philadelphia, will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Isabel Watson, of this city, and Miss Dulcina Marshall, of Carnegie. Russell Druschel, of Buffalo, will be best man and the wedding music will be played by Miss Mildred Douthett and Joseph Fairman.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Eleanor Mailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Raymond Mailey, of West Palm Beach, Fla., formerly of Homestead, and J. LeRoy Rawlinson, of Columbia, N. C., which was solemnized June 5. Mr. and Mrs. Rawlinson will live in West Palm Beach.

* * *

MRS. EARL COOK, of Carnegie, entertained at dinner last night in honor of Miss Velma Weis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weis, of Dormont, whose marriage to Charlese Mitchell, of Dormont, will be solemnized tonorrow night. Among others who have entertained for Miss Weis are Mrs. L. J. Lighthiser, Miss Martha Klein, Miss Ruth Wilsman, Miss Ruth and Miss Alma Hirth. Mr. and Mrs. Weis will give the rehearsal dinner tonight.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. JOHN BYRON HENRY will give a dinner tonight in the Pittsburgh Field Club supplementing the rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Janet Marshall, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. N. Marshall, of Aspinwall, and Ormond Lee Henry, of Aspinwall, which takes place tomorrow night. Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Kumer, of Aspinwall, gave a bridge party Monday night, and Saturday night, Miss Mary Henderson, of Glenshaw, entertained the bridal party with a supper dance in the Wildwood Country Club, Saturday afternoon. Miss Jean Klingensmith and Mrs. Paul Munsell gave a bridge luncheon in Webster Hall, and on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Evans entertained in their home in Delafield road.

* * *

MRS. ANNIE FRASER, of Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary Ann Fraser, and William Russell Unger, of Dormont, which was solemnized Monday at 4:30 o'clock, by the Rev. C. F. Lauer, pastor of the Dormont Lutheran church. Mr. and Mrs. Unger will live in Dormont.

* * *

MRS. HARRY ADLER, of Wellesley avenue, has made known the marriage of her daughter, Miss Ethel Adler, and Robert C. Greenburg, of Steubenville, O., which was solemnized in the Adler home by the Rev. Benjamin A. Lichter. Only the families were present.

* * *

THE Hammerle family will hold its annual reunion Saturday at West View Park. John Hammerle is president of the organization; David McElhaney, vice president; Mrs. George Hammerle, treasurer; H. R. Hammerle, secretary, and E. C. Hammerle, assistant secretary.

* * *

MISS LOLA CORBIT, of Los Angeles, will leave Friday for her home after spending two weeks visiting friends here and in New York.

BOOKFELLOWS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE

ELECTION of officers will take place tomorrow night at the first annual meeting and "feast" of the Bookfellows Library Guild, which will be held in the Congress of Clubs, under auspices of the Congress department of literature. The directors have nominated Mrs. Marie Tello Phillips, of Pittsburgh, for national life president; Mrs. Lillie Reed McMasters, of Pittsburgh, for vice president; Dr. Mary McKibbin Harper, of Chicago, second vice president; Mrs. A. G. Huckin, Maywood, Ill., secretary, and Mrs. Edward C. Nichols, Oak Park, Ill., treasurer. Mrs. Flora Warren Seymour, editor of the Stepladder, official organ of the Bookfellows, and the only woman member of the Indian Commission, will be one of the speakers, and will have as her subject "The Indian Today." Mrs. Seymour is the guest of Mrs. Phillips at her home in Darlington road during her Pittsburgh visit. Dr. Harper, who is editor of the Medical Women's Bulletin, and chairman of the Medical Women's National Association, also is here to speak. She is the guest of Mrs. J. G. Howard, chairman of the Guild's writers' group.

Among the local speakers will be Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, president of the Congress; Mrs. John S. Sloan, state director of the guild; Dr. N. A. N. Cleven, a vice president of the writers' group; Chester B. Story, of the advisory board; Arthur Jordon, treasurer, and Charles E. Wilson, of the Dickens Fellowship.

A number of social affairs have been arranged for the entertainment of the out-of-town guests. Mrs. McMasters will be hostess at a tea in the Highland Country Club on Friday afternoon and Mrs. Phillips will be at home in Mrs. Seymour's honor Friday night. The writers' group will present a play by Mrs. Sarah M. Pettit and there will be recitals by other authors. A sight-seeing trip is arranged for Friday.

A CARD party will be held Friday night by the drama department of the Dormont New Century Club in the home of Mrs. Walter Sheppard, Mission drive. Mrs. Joseph N. Orbin is in charge of reservations. Mrs. Orbin is also directing the playwriting contest, which the drama department will bring to a close in the fall after the season's opening. Every member of the club is eligible to enter the contest, which calls for a one-act play that will require a half-hour in its performance. There will be a cash prize and the winning manuscript will be given a club production by the department members.

BLANCHE SWEET

GIRLS' WINNING CARD SELECTED

Movie World agrees chief allure is smooth skin!

HOLLYWOOD, CAL.—No matter what her type or what the role for which she is cast, film directors say there is one thing every girl in screenland must have—smooth, delightful skin. They agree with Howard Higgins, Pathé De Mille director, who declares that "It is the rare loveliness of their skin that has made girls of widely different types the most popular screen stars in the world."

The smooth perfection that the Klieg lights reveal in the close-ups, cannot be faked by make-up, says Hollywood. It must actually be as fine and soft as it looks.—"Studio Skin" they call this exquisite smoothness, and guard it carefully. Blanche Sweet says, "My first thought is always my skin, for the camera is all-revealing—Lux Toilet Soap keeps it velvet smooth."

This new soap is made by the method France perfected for her costliest soaps. All the big film studios have made it the official dressing room soap—Lux Toilet Soap is manufactured by Lever Bros., Cambridge, Mass.

FETE AND SHOW SWELL FUND FOR ICE

A lawn fete and a show were two methods employed to increase The Sun-Tele Milk and Ice Fund subscriptions today. The show was given by the Firefly Club, members of which are Teddy Hughes, Pete Hughes, John Sullivan, Billy Friesell, Harry Wassell, Russell Sullivan, Robert O'Day and Edgar Bothwell, all of Edgewood. Pete and Russell wrote the plays that were given and, in addition, the boys tell us they sold lemonade and candy, had a "hit the nigger," "Two Black Crows" and a chemistry show. The audience must have liked the performance, for the proceeds amounted to $15.

Then out Point Breeze way, the Neighborhood Club, almost on five minutes' notice, held a lawn fete and raised $2 for the fund. The boys helped put up some tables for the sale of orangeade, cookies and fudge which had been solicited and which were sold by the girls of the club, who appeared in costume for their fete.

A third gift today is an anonymous one of $5, which with the other two brings the fund to $149.16.

Witch Hazel Will Aid Your Loveliness

Maria Jeritza.

MODERN women have learned that the intelligent use of astringents is one of the open secrets of beauty. Astringent creams have their use and place, but most women find that a mild liquid astringent is the best medium for toning the skin and contracting pores without irritating them.

Among liquid astringents witch hazel ranks high. It is derived from a North American shrub, the leaves and bark of which are astringent—that is, they tend to contract or draw together organic tissue.

Witch hazel is too powerful in its action to agree well with all types of skin. Nearly always, it should be used diluted with water, ice or other ingredients. But it is most refreshing and delightful when it is used in the correct proportion.

Have you ever tried a witch hazel pack? You will find that when you are tired and wish to rest and freshen your complexion quickly, this pack works wonders. Moisten a saucer of Fuller's earth with sufficient witch hazel to make a paste. Cold Cream your face and neck well with cleansing cream, then remove the excess with tissue squares or absorbent cotton. Next, sponge your face with very warm water, drying it gently. Now apply the mixture of witch hazel and Fuller's earth, spreading it over your face and neck evenly. In a few moments it will dry, and stiffen. Lie down and relax completely for ten minutes, taking care not to talk or move your features, as to do so would pull and might break the delicate tissue bound by the stiff mask.

After 10 minutes, remove the mask with your finger-tips dipped in more witch-hazel or else in cold water. Finally, run a lump of ice over your face and neck until the skin tingles. You will be delighted so see how pink and clear your complexion appears after this process, with tightened, firm pores. The mask tends to draw blackheads and similar tiny defects to the surface, whence they can easily be removed.

This mask should not be applied regularly, but only now and then—say, once each week or two—as a quick means of resting, freshening and cleansing the skin.

Witch-hazel is an ingredient of many creams and lotions. Here is a nourishing cold cream, which is excellent for feeding sagging muscles of the face and throat and is also cleansing.

Almond oil, one and one-half ounces; lanolin, one-half ounce; spermaceti, one-half ounce; witch-hazel, one-half ounce; tincture of benzoin, one-half dram, your favorite perfume oil a few drops.

These are only a few of the many ways in which you can use that dependable astringent, witch-hazel, to refresh and enhance your beauty.

BUS MEN SEEK WAYS FOR BETTER SERVICE

CONVENE IN WEEK IN CINCINNATI

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Efficient handling of more than 2,000,000,000 passengers using motor busses annually will be the keynote of the second annual convention of the motor bus division of the American Automobile Association, to be held at Cincinnati, June 27, 28 and 29, with representatives of the industry in attendance from all parts of the country.

This statement was issued at national headquarters of the A. A. A. bus division today, along with the announcement that prominent leaders in both the manufacturing and transportation end of the industry will be on the program for a part in the discussion.

The tremendous sum paid in taxes by the motor bus companies and the vast army of passengers carried are testimonials to the fact that the motor bus has assumed a definite place in the transportation world, creating problems to be solved only through combined effort of all concerned, was the view of delegates.

Frank R. Fageol, president of the Twin Coach Company, Kent, O., will speak on "The Motor Bus—A Specialized Transportation Unit." Howard P. Fritch, president of the Bostain and Maine Transportation Company, will discuss "How Motor Bus and Railroad Service Should Be Co-ordinated," and E. Blythe Stason, professor of law, University of Michigan, will discuss "Commission Control Over the Certificate of Convenience and Necessity."

Numerous technical discussions, such as bus terminals, equipment maintenance, systematic operation and merchandising the bus business, will also be on the program during the three-day meeting.

"One of the striking features of the convention," says a statement by officials, "will be the interest shown by steam and electric lines in the motor bus as a co-ordinated agency of transportation. The rail lines no longer see the bus as a competitor, but as a unit of travel that can well be merged in with existing agencies."

BUICK COLLEGE FAVORITE

FLINT, Mich., June 20.—Youth's exacting demands for style, performance and reliability in motor cars are most fully met by Buicks, a census of automobiles at the University of California by the daily campus newspaper would seem to indicate. The census reveals that Buick leads, not only on the campus, but also two-to-one in the homes of students attending the university.

PRESSURE KEY TO TIRE LIFE

Tire users interested in saving money can realize a very distinct saving by watching the air pressure in their balloon tires very carefully, particularly in summer months.

Few motorists realize how important a part the air they keep in their tires plays in the life of those tires. They don't realize it because it is an unseen factor. As a rule, definite and specified mileage losses cannot be directly traced to lack of proper air pressure, but well informed tire men know that it is the cause, in many cases, of a shortened tire life, the reason for which is a mystery to the owner.

Because of balloon tires carrying a much lower air pressure than motorists were formerly used to with high pressure tires, a small difference in the amount of air is of greater importance than before. For instance, a high pressure tire, carrying 60 pounds of air, could lose six pounds and still be only 10 per cent under normal. On the other hand, a balloon tire, which might now be used on the same type of load, carrying only 30 pounds pressure normally, would only have to lose three pounds, the same as the high pressure tire, it would be 20 per cent under normal instead of 10 per cent.

HOT WEATHER CALLS FOR DRAINING OF GAS TANK

With the arrival of warm weather, the gas tank should be drained, and the line to the vacuum tank and carburetor should be blown clear. Then the crankcase should be drained, flushed, and refilled with the proper summer grade of oil. The rear axle and transmission grease should be changed at the same time.

11 PER CENT INCREASE IN N. C. AUTOMOBILES

North Carolina increased its motor vehicle registration more than 11 per cent in the last year.

"BUST 'EM UP" IS AIM IN TEST

Motorists who think that the proving-ground driver is an especially skilled person in the art of operating a car are wrong.

In this, as in other aspects of proving-ground work, the "typical" is sought. In a recent test on a new car in which 1,000,000 miles were driven, the drivers were described as a "force of handy men, inexperienced in the fine points of car performance, whose notion of good driving is simplicity itself, namely, open her up and hold her in the road until something gives 'way."

AUTOMOBILE TAX REDUCTION TREND WORLD-WIDE

ACTION OF CHILE, PERU AND U. S. EXAMPLE

World-wide action toward the reduction of motor taxes is indicated by John N. Willys, chairman of the foreign trade committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in the annual report of that committee issued this week. Chile, Peru and the United States are cited by Mr. Willys as among the countries which have recently taken this step.

"The repeal of the federal war excise taxes on the automobile by the United States government is but an indication of a world-wide tendency," said Mr. Willys.

"In the United States there has always been a strong feeling against the sales tax and particularly against singling out a few products for special taxation.

"Action of the automobile manufacturers in passing this tax repeal directly to the consumers, resulting in a lower delivered price of the motor vehicle, has resulted in a prompt stimulation of trade.

"The procedure of Chile and Peru in lowering their motor taxes has already been a distinct aid to business in those countries."

WATCH OUT! THIEVES ARE BUSY

DRAINING THE GASOLINE TANK

Many automobile owners have been the victims within the last few weeks of one of the lowest forms of thieving, the draining of gasoline tanks of parked motor cars. Many cars also have been stripped of accessories. To prevent such thefts car owners are urged to park their cars in well lighted spots or protected parking quarters. The above picture shows how the gasoline thieves work.

ENGINES SLUGGISH FROM BAD IGNITION

Engine sluggishness may be traceable to a defective ignition coil. A new coil frequently increases not only power, speed and pickup, but gasoline mileage as well.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT...BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

ALONG AUTO ROW

By H. W. DIETRICH, Automobile Editor.

TOMORROW, the first day of summer and the longest day of the year, has been selected as the most appropriate day for the introduction of the first of a series of new cars that will be presented during the closing half of the year.

The new car to be presented tomorrow is the Nash "400" series. Among the cars to follow will be the DeSoto and Plymouth, newcomers both.

That the new Nash cars will present a new fashion note is the comment of Automobile Row, although representatives of Nash here refuse to comment on the "400" series.

The cars, described by Nash as the best he has ever built, will be placed on exhibition by the Nash-Pittsburgh Motors Company.

Frank Dickson, former distributor of Rolls Royce cars in the Pittsburgh district who was seriously injured in an automobile accident four years ago, has returned to the automobile sales field as distributor for the Minerva.

Mr. Dickson, who is known as "The Automobile Importer," has opened offices in the Bishop & Ports Building, Walnut street and Aiken avenue, and a service station on Broad street.

June 29 Mr. Dickson will sail for Belgium where he will inspect the Minerva factory and study Minerva production and service methods. At the same time he is expected to arrange to represent other foreign makes of motor cars in this district. He expects to remain in Europe two months.

Deliberately selecting the one place in the Western Hemisphere from which automobiles are barred by law, 600 American and Canadian manufacturers who constitute the Automotive Equipment Association Monday opened a five-day meeting on Mackinac Island, Mich., to study in seclusion automotive problems the answers to which may profoundly affect the immediate future course of the entire automotive equipment industry.

DETOUR and HIGHWAY CONDITION REPORT

Three more detours have been placed by the State Highway Department, making a total of 155 for this season. At the same time two other detours were lifted.

The new detours:

Between Derry Church and Hershey, 2.5 miles over macadam roads, in good condition. Highway 3-17 under construction.

Between Portland and East Bangor, six miles over gravel and macadam roads, in fair condition. Work on Highway No. 2.

Between Canadensis and Somerville, 12.8 miles over earth roads in fair condition. Detour via Transcontinental Route 92 via Panthers.

The detours lifted:

Between Greensburg and Turtle Creek. Work on Highway No. 1.

Between South Bend and Shelocta, on Highway 63.

DODGE EXPORTS SHOW GAIN

Continued improved conditions in the foreign automotive market are evidenced by the export of 3,814 units of Dodge Brothers cars and Braham Brothers trucks from the plants in the United States and Canada during May. Compared to May a year ago, when 3,246 units were shipped, this represents a gain of 568 units or 17.5 per cent, and an increase of 865 units or 29.3 per cent over April, 1928.

The plant of Dodge Brothers, Ltd., in Canada, reported the best month in its history during May with shipments of 1,347 passenger cars and trucks; the best previous month being May, 1926, with a total of 1,341. The record of 1,347 units is a gain of 742 or 122.6 per cent over May a year ago, and 385 units or 40 per cent over April this year.

Increased demand for passenger cars and trucks is reflected by Dodge Brothers total shipments for the first five months of this year compared to the corresponding period last year. A total of 202,558 units was shipped from the plants in the United States and Canada for the first five months of 1928, compared to 83,781 for the corresponding period last year, a gain of 18,777 units or 22.4 per cent. Shipments for June indicate these substantial gains over 1927 will be maintained for the first half of the year, both in the passenger and commercial car sales.

Director Wants Realism and Insists Gangsters Stay Bad; College Boys "Fly Away" Home

By REGINA CREWE

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 20.

DIRECTOR ROLAND WEST wants the film version of "Nightstick" to be realistic to the last degree, and is positively refusing to have the gunmen in the picture turn over a new leaf and join the Sunday school class in the last reel. He wants his gangsters to stay in character, and it looks as though United Artists would give him his way about it. Lilyan Tashman, by the way, may play the leading feminine role in this "Meller."

Wasn't Jean Lafitte a pirate bold? Seems to me, I remember reading of his ravages of the high seas as hijacker, slayer and general all-around bad man. Well, there is a story about him called "Black Ivory." The title refers to the trade in Negro slaves. And I hear that D. W. Griffith may direct a picture adapted from the yarn, with John Barrymore as star.

Priscilla Bonner will soon re-enact in earnest one of the bridal scenes in which she has frequently played. Priscilla is to wed a young physician, resident here, whose name is E. B. Woolfan. Dr. Woolfan and his bride-to-be are both busy at present superintending the construction of the Spanish type dwelling which will be their home.

What is that jingle about the little blackbirds sitting on the tree and all flying away until only one is left? Well, of all the little college boys that came to Hollywood as contest winners last season, only one remains. He is John Westwood, of Princeton, I believe, and John has received a nice break in Charlie Rogers' rah-rah picture, "Sophomore." So let's give Johnny three cheers and a tiger, or something, and hope that his perseverance will receive its reward.

The name of Adolphe Menjou's first post-marital picture has been changed from "Papa" to "His Private Life." And if Adolphe's private life isn't interesting film material, pray what is?

Careful consideration of Estelle Taylor, Jetta Goudal, Mary Nolan and Anita Page as John Gilbert's leading lady in "The Devil's Mask," has resulted in the selection of Alma Rubens for the role, according to last minute bulletins from Mr. Metro's company. This certainly proves something. I don't know just what, anyhow there are parts for two girls in the production, and as everyone except Anita Page is being considered for the second, the chances are that the role will go to Anita Page.

While the princess of good fellows, Marie Prevost, is more or less of a doodah regard negotiations with De Mille to put her in his first United Artists photoplay, her boy friend ex-hubby, Ken Harlan, has signed with a Vitaphone to do a "squeakie" titled "The Alibi." And for the first time in his eventful young life Ken has discovered that he has tonsils. And he can't have 'em out until the "talkie" is completed for fear his voice might change.

New York doesn't know the thrill it has just missed. Ward Morehouse, Richard Watts, Jr., and the other "Gentlemen of the Press" responsible for the stage play of that name, tried to get Lois Moran to take a vacation from films to play the girl role in their drama. But Lois has tendered her regrets, and has also voiced an objection to the proposed shift which was to place her, instead of Sally Phipps, opposite Nick Stuart in "Chasing Through Europe." As a matter of fact Lois hasn't been awfully well, and the Fox organization has been prevailed upon to grant her several months' vacation. Lois, I understand, is one of the few fortunates who has no optional clauses in her contract. It runs a straight three years, where most of them are renewable every six months. Thus, when you hear of Susie so and so signing a five-year contract, remember all that glitters is not gold, and Susie must worry semi-annually as to whether or not the company will exercise its option. Susie, herself, has no say so in the matter. Which seems rather one-sided, doesn't it?

PHOTOPLAY STAR -:- MAKES TALENT DISCOVERY -:- ON HER HONEYMOON

Norma Shearer, who recently returned from abroad, where she spent her honeymoon as Mrs. Irving Thalberg, made a discovery.

Eva Von Berne is the "discovery." Viennese society girl, she has arrived in America to take up a movie career with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, of which Mr. Thalberg is an official.

Miss Von Berne, whose age is 18 years, soon observed the way of the flapper in America and it did not take her long to decide what the first step to Americanization is.

Just a little old world comeliness with the greatest hailing sign in any world, a smile that lights up the eyes.

FLOTILLA FEATURE IS DANCE TEAM

Diane and DeMar, dancers, are appearing on their first Pittsburgh engagement in the Flotilla Club this week. They headline the regular floor show, which is presented at 7:45 and 11:30 o'clock. Olive White, another dancer, and the Pittsburgh entertainers, Bebe Falvo and Nora Lewis, also are featured.

BRIDAL DRESS GORGEOUS

Anne Forrest, in the title role of "The Bride," in the Pitt next week, will wear a gorgeous outfit of the latest mode. While shopping for the outfit she was amused at the questioning glances bestowed upon her by the sales people, who jumped at the conclusion that she was to become a real June bride.

Tomorrow morning the seat sale opens at the box office of the Nixon for "Under Cover," which the Nixon Players will present the week beginning Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. "Under Cover" is a melodrama by Roi Cooper Megrue.

The featured act in the Davis next week will be "The Blue Slickers," with Marie White, Jerry Derr and Jack Howe. On the screen will be Florence Vidor in "The Magnificent Flirt."

MANY EXCURSIONS ON HOMER SMITH

Hilltop Review, No. 215, Woman's Benefit Association, will hold its annual river excursion on the steamer Homer Smith tonight. Tomorrow the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind will hold a day trip on the boat. Members of the Melchezidek Commandery, Knights of Malta, and of Class A of the Fifth Avenue High School will be aboard Friday. The Homer Smith will make afternoon and night excursions Saturday.

BAND SAXOPHONIST FEATURE IN SANDERS

Hughie Barrett and his Rhythmodic orchestra are appearing for a fourth week in Sanders. Mort Adams, saxophonist, is a feature. Nightly he presents a novelty number, playing the clarinet and saxophone at the same time. A number of orchestras are booked for July, including those of Ted Weems, Tal Henry, Dave Harmon and Charles Dornberger.

TALKIE NEWS REEL IS NEAR

Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, announced yesterday that the M-G-M movietone news reel soon will be ready for presentation.

"This particular phase of our activity," Mr. Schenck said, "is already well along in its development, and the public may look for the finest of sound subjects recorded with expert perfection.

"The M-G-M news is produced for our company by the William Randolph Hearst organization, which is the largest individually controlled news agency in the world. The addition of movietone subjects will be done with discrimination, and no effort or expense will be spared to achieve the best results.

"The Capitol Theater Orchestra will provide the scores and the musical accompaniment for the M-G-M movietone news.

"The M-G-M movietone, as recently announced, through contracts with Western Electric, will be incorporated in many of the feature pictures produced at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. We also will have M-G-M movietone to embellish the Hal Roach comedies and our other short features, the M-G-M great events in technicolor, and the M-G-M ufa oddities.

"In making this announcement I do not wish to give the impression that we are rushing into movietone production. For the past year we have given careful consideration to the possibilities of this new invention and have been making preparations for using it.

We must bear in mind that the success of this new device ultimately will not be based on its novelty. Tricks soon get old. Sound effects and language only will be used by us when silence and mere pantomime will not be sufficiently effective.

"If producers do not use this new medium with intelligence, the public is likely to be disappointed. If theaters are encouraged to provide movietone equipment, they must not be discouraged by the productions furnished them. That is our responsibility.

"Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer plans to give the utmost care to the making of all its movietone subjects."

PURCHASERS TO HOLD PICNIC AT KENNYWOOD

The annual summer outing of the Purchasing Agents' Association of Pittsburgh will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Edgeworth Country Club. There will be bridge and golf in the afternoon, a dinner and dancing in the evening. William J. Green is general chairman.

SOUTH SIDE BAKER SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Shot in the left arm late yesterday when he is said to have attempted to attack two policeman with a butcher knife in his bakery shop at 1114 Sarah street, Stanley Nowak, 39, proprietor, is confined to the South Side Hospital. Police went to the shop on complaint of the man's wife, who said her husband had been acting strangely and had threatened her. Wagonman Thomas Fitzgerald, who went to the shop with Patrolman Thomas Kirley, is said to have shot Nowak when the latter came at them with a knife. Nowak was not seriously injured.

FOUNDRY WORKER DIES OF INJURIES

Shock following injuries suffered while at work caused the death of Guerino Pesco, 50, of Kendall Station, near Coraopolis, in the Sewickley Valley Hospital last night. Pesco's left leg was crushed when an emery wheel broke at the Duquesne Steel Foundry Company, Coraopolis.

NOISE CLOSES SOHO SCHOOL

Pupils of the Soho School are getting nine days more vacation than other pupils of the schools, because street noise made it impossible for classes to be held in the school building, Fifth avenue and Soho street. Noise due to the construction of the Boulevard of the Allies extension and the increase of traffic in Fifth avenue due to the work caused the school to be closed yesterday, nine days before the school term ended.

The school board voted yesterday to enter a protest to the board of zoning appeals against the proposed installation of a gasoline filling station near the Washington School, Fortieth street, near Butler street.

SECOND NEWS SECTION — THE SUN-TELEGRAPH — SPORTS FEATURES

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1928

SHE'LL TAKE MORE

You may think Rita Murray has enough for one little girl to eat, but she hasn't. It's the occasion of the annual outing for parochial school children of this district at Kennywood Park.

WHEE!

Picnics may come and picnics may go, but merry-go-rounds—well, they go on forever, rain or shine. It's raining as this'n turns.

NOT CROWDED

It rained, but there was an umbrella in the park. These little girlies, they say, could take in four or five—or even six—more, if that were at all necessary.

NOW SCHOOL'S OUT

"HOW'RE YOU?"

Anna May Simms enjoyed that which went on about her just as much as anyone twice as old as her two years. Anna, for the moment, was out of sorts when the photographer approached her.

After the Evening With Coles, Emily Feels Different About Life

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

Emily Day and Kitten are daughters of a worker in the Rossiter factory. Both are prevented by poverty from mingling with the socially elect of the little town. Emily has made an ideal of Kent Rossiter. Mary Nolan, whose father keeps a "speakeasy," is devoted to her. Mrs. Frances Haiden, a wealthy interior decorator, takes an interest in her and tells her the only aristocracy is that of work. She gets a job with Mrs. Haiden. Her father dies and Rossiter offers help, which her mother declines. Avis Rossiter's father threatens to disinherit her unless she changes her ways. Great preparations are being made for Avis Rossiter's marriage. Kingdon Coles invites Emily to go to the city to a show. Emily visits the newspaper plant while King writes his review of the play.

OR THE gray-haired man would call "Copy!" and one of a row of boys would spring from a bench and scurry around like a frightened mouse. Sometimes he would take the typewritten sheets to a solemn looking person in the middle of a U-shaped table; this man would make quick marks on it before tossing it to those who sat facing him.

This was the copy-desk and the man in the "slot" was head of it, Coles explained to Emily; the others were copy-readers. It was they who wrote the "heads" she would see at the top of the columns in the newspaper next day.

Over 'n the corner, he went on, was the "city desk," where all the local news came in; the gray-haired man was city editor.

"Well, I expect he's marvelous, isn't he, King? No one so important—"

"Oh, yes. There's managing editor and editor-in-chief. And the publisher seems to figure prominently."

She thought it very complicated and asked about Bill. Who's that young journalist?"

He grinned. "Don't ever let this gang hear you call them journalists. They're newspaper men, see? Only trained seals are journalists."

"Trained seales?" She felt rather dizzy.

"Yes—novelists and playwrights and such brought in for special stuff on big stories. Bill's only a rewrite man. See the little guy with the dumb looking face? He's star of this outfit." And he mentioned a name that was world-famous.

"But you'd never think—"

"Certainly not. Seen enough?"

Telephones shrilled; typewriters rattled; from another room came the deafening clatter of telegraph instruments; great brass pipes which Coles said were pneumatic tubes running upstairs to the composing room sighed and snored; shouts of "Boy!" pierced the racket.

"But how do they write here?" Emily demanded. "With so much going on, how can they?"

He turned upon her a look of genuine surprise and declared the place was quiet now.

"Ought to see it when something breaks! Of course they're a little rushed—edition going in. And say, I'd better be moving."

He took her to a small office at the end of the city room and uncovered his typewriter. In hardly a minute he was bent over the machine, pounding as madly as the reporters and rewrite men. His face was drawn with concentration; she knew that for him at this minute, though she was sitting beside him, she didn't exist. And she wondered how he could think as fast as his fingers moved. Words sprang out at her from the white sheet unrolling from his machine. "Inadequate—" "rehash" "flabby plot—"

She turned away. A cruel thing to do—destroy a man's work this way. Perhaps the young fellow with the anxious eyes would be discouraged—never try again. She had a feeling Coles was not being wholly sincere in his condemnation; that he was "acting up" rather like a small boy trying to be smart. In spite of her excitement it depressed her.

Through the glass partition she could see the city room. A girl was coming in now and Emily watched her with interest. She was vaguely like Frances Haiden, though much younger and with more of an alert air.

There was a certain carelessness about her clothes, a sort of hurried look as if she gave them little thought. But they were plain and well-tailored and her whole appearance was one of sleek efficiency.

She went to the city desk and leaning over it, talked hurriedly to the city editor. He nodded once or twice and glanced at the clock; the girl, moving very fast, sat down at a typewriter. With a half nod at Bill, who looked up briefly, she ran paper into the roll and her fingers flew.

When she had finished a page she called "Boy!" without raising her head. One came and took what she had written to the city editor who ran through it and sent it on to the copy desk.

"Mark that 'must,'" he called at the solemn personage. "Exclusive on the Rawlings divorce."

Emily thought it the most fascinating thing she ever had seen. Fancy a girl doing that—working out there in that noise! She felt anything marked "Must" surely would be very special.

Coles told her it was. That was after he had closed his desk and they were on the way to the ferry. "Means it must run, no matter what else is thrown out. That girl's a good reporter; digs up stuff no one else can get."

"Well, I only wish I could have a job like hers."

He smiled down at her and shook his head. "No job for a golden girl. Reporters are out at all hours, in all places, going without food or rest. Work is differ- for a kid going into a shop like Frances Haiden's just for the fun of it."

SAFE, SANE FOURTH IS DECREED

Pittsburgh is to have a safe and sane Fourth of July.

Profiting by other years in which the sale of fireworks was restricted, Council yesterday, in a communication to Public Safety Director James M. Clark, called his attention to the coming holiday and urged him to make every effort to stop the promiscuous sale of crackers and other explosives used in the celebration of the Fourth of July.

Councilman W. Y. English lead the discussion against fireworks. He said that since the city restricted the sale of explosives injuries and death caused by exploding fireworks has decreased to a noticeable extent.

Pyrotechnical displays, under the supervision of men qualified to handle explosives will be held in a number of city parks in the evening.

Fireworks for the North and South parks of the county were assured today by the County Commissioners, who set aside $2,100 for display in each park.

POLICE NET CLOSING ON WIDOW IN MURDER

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(AP.)—Search for the pistol used in slaying John I. Glab, retired Cicero (Ill.) druggist, at his home here Monday night, today was the lead followed by police.

This clue was adopted after authorities gathered circumstantial evidence which they declare points to the wealthy man's widow, 29-year-old Hazel Glab, held on suspicion of murder.

Two pieces of evidence were regarded by the police as strong links in the chain of circumstances. One was the story of Mrs. Esther Wilson, a maid in the house, and the wife of M. A. Wilson, Glab's caretaker and gardener, that the Glabs engaged in violent quarrels during which the wife threatened to kill her husband.

The other was in the declaration of a neighbor, Mrs. J. Goodrich, that after hearing the shot and Glab's cry for help, she looked out of the window and saw a woman in a light dress run from a parked car to the Glab house. When arrested Mrs. Glab wore a light tan dress and a gray coat. Mrs. Goodrich said the woman she saw had light hair and a long bob. Mrs. Glab wears her hair in that manner.

Police last night took Mrs. Glab from her cell in the jail to her home, where, under their orders she enacted the scene as described by Mrs. Goodrich. From Mrs. Goodrich's bedroom window, the neighbor woman and several police detectives were spectators.

"Yes," Mrs. Goodrich said, "It looks like the same person I saw the night of the murder. I can't be absolutely certain."

FIND THREE PISTOLS

On the trail of the missing weapon in the case, at least three pistols were found on the Glab estate—a .38 and a .32 caliber in the quarters of the Wilsons, and a .25 caliber automatic in a small purse in Mrs. Glab's bedroom. It was a .32 caliber bullet which killed the former druggist. Police absolved Wilson of any guilt in the slaying, but held him as a material witness.

With Mrs. Glab is held her 17-year-old niece, Ethyl Kaser, of Oklahoma City, Okla. Both declare they were playing cards in the house at the time Glab was slain.

Although both first denied they had heard any shot, Miss Kaser later told the police they had heard a "shot or disturbance," but that when she ran to the window, Mrs. Glab told her "not to make a target of herself." Her aunt seemed little disturbed by the occurrence, she said.

Will May Lose Favorite Son Standing.

CLAREMORE, Okla., June 20.—Andy Payne, the footracer, has just come home and Claremore has given him a big welcome. I had to rush home to protect my own interest. I am about to lose my favorite son standing. I just had a talk with Andy. He is a fine modest young kid. He promised me to run out to California and see me some time. I see where Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, withdrew. There is your real legitimate vice president. If they nominate a dry vice president, the Democrats will maintain their comedy reputation.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

A FRIEND of the Town Hall item in the proposed bond issue asks that this column add its small voice to the more powerful speakers which have been advocating the plan. This is easy to do. With everyone throwing in a few dollars a year into a common pot, which is what a bond issue amounts to, we get benefits worth many times the amount expended. The Town Hall will serve the suburbanites as well as it will serve the people in the city proper. There is nothing about it to be viewed with alarm, and many things about it to which we all will point with pride. It will accommodate rich and poor and those in between. It will afford a place for the man who knows what Wagner's music is all about and it will offer quarters to those of us who only know Wagner's batting and fielding average. It will be a monument to the citizenry and an ornament to the community. It will be something we can brag about while out of town and something that will bring out-of-towners here to marvel and wonder and cause them to go away remarking Pittsburgh's enterprise.

While its location is a matter to be settled later, the committee in charge is offered gratuitously our suggestion that the vacant plot over the hill near our old and beloved fire house might be suitable. It would be only a 10-minute walk from our home as the crow flies and it would be also advantaged by the fact that it would be very close to Freddy Ahlborn's bowling alleys.

This suggested location might not appeal particularly to persons who neither live in Carrick nor yet bowl, and, so to show the broad spirit that marks this day and age, we respectfully submit that the Town Hall idea is so sound that we'll give it a vote in the faith it will be so placed by the gentlemen in charge that it will be accessible to everyone in the county.

"Former Volunteer Fireman Strong for Town Hall" is the headline for this little piece, Mr. Printer.

PROBABLY only a few get the pleasure out of this column that a reader in Sisterville, W. Va., gets—all too often. He amuses himself by looking for missing commas, misplaced hyphens, and redundancy—among other things. We noted recently: "A frail, little girl," and promptly Sisterville tuned in with the word "little" struck out. He meant that it is useless to say "little" when we had indicated the girl was frail. The difficult part about it is that our friend in Sisterville is so often right.

Starting out on an automobile trip of some 100 miles recently we made the resolution that we were going to be polite to all other motorists. This is more difficult than we ever had imagined. A man on a side road wanted to break in ahead of us in a dense line. We stopped and beckoned him to cut through, but while he waved a hand of thanks, you should have heard the fellow in the car directly behind us blowing his horn of reprimand. The man behind considered it a personal affront that we should hold him up a few seconds to allow another driver to get out of a predicament. We, ourselves, got angry later at a man in front who suddenly stopped on a hill, causing us to shift gears. We shook our fist at him as we passed, but it developed he had a pretty good reason for stopping. Both front tires were flat.

BOBO BAXTER—So All Alone — By RUBE GOLDBERG

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

CHORDS AND DISCHORDS

By Bertha R. McDonald

WHEN Louise Jerrod first heard Marsh Francetti play, this soft-eyed warm-blooded son of an Italian father and an an American mother appealed to her as no other man ever had, even her affianced husband, Tony Pemberton.

At first she thought it was merely his music. One did not think of the violin when Francetti played. The music seemed to flow through it, inevitably perfect, a stream of poignant sound which plead with one for sympathy, understanding, love. When the music stopped it was as if a light went out, the reflection of which still hung faintly behind the darkness of closed eyelids.

Still, Francetti as well as his violin possessed personality.

After that first afternoon Louise never missed a chance to hear the violinist play. Finally Tony, her lover, noted her growing absorption and spoke to her about it.

"Say, Weesie," he began, using his pet name for her, "I wouldn't have believed that a level-headed girl like you could be so taken in by a cheap attempt at sentimentality. That musical tramp bamboozles women with that sobbing violin of his everywhere he goes. I don't like it. It isn't healthy. Suppose we cut him out—is it a bet?"

"It certainly is not!" Louise flared, glaring angrily at Pemberton. "You simply do not appreciate music and I cannot marry a man who doesn't. Here's your ring!"

Thus was the breech precipitated. Tony caught his breath, took his ring and left without a word. The daily communion of soul between the violinist and Miss Jerrod kept on until all the town was talking about it. The day Francetti played in recital a song without words which he publicly announced he had written for and dedicated to Miss Louise Jerrod, everybody thought the next thing on the program would be the announcement of their engagement.

Of this culmination to her romance Louise entertained no doubt, although the musician never had done more than pour out his heart to her through the medium of his beloved violin. She needed no other assurance. Marsh would speak, she felt confident, when his concert tour was ended and before he left for Paris.

And then Fate, too, often a cruel harbinger of our destiny, took a hand in this play of love and melody. Louise's father, on a western trip, met with a fatal accident. Louise hurried to him and by the time she reached the east again, orphaned and alone, Francetti had gone but he had left behind an impassioned note telling of his great love, assuring Louise that she was the one woman in all the world for him, his real inspiration, and promising that although they must be parted for a little while, everyday during the separation he would play their song—the one he had composed just for her, to bring her closer to him. He also promised to write again as soon as he had an address to send her.

Tony Pemberton called, sorrowfully solicitous over the loss of her father. He and Mr. Jerrod had been staunch friends and Louise knew that it had been her father's hope some day to see her Anthony Pemberton's wife.

When she told Tony that she had decided upon travel as an amelioration for her grief and that she was leaving for Paris in a few days, his face clouded.

"The fiddle hound again!" he growled. "Can't you see how unconventional it is, to say the least, to follow him across like this?"

"How dare you insinute that I'm following Francetti?" she fumed. "Isn't Paris large enough for both of us?"

"It isn't large enough to keep you apart. The string thrumming idiot will get you finally I suppose, but I'm warning him now through you—if he ever mistreats or neglects you, I'll know it and I'll—"

"Please don't, Tony!" the girl begged. "It isn't like you to threaten and I don't want to carry away with me memories of an old friend that aren't like him."

"All right," Tony answered hoarsely. "I suppose millions of discarded lovers have pledged their support to the women they've cared for, but I'm going to add mine to the list regardless of thef act that it's trite, banal, or what have you. Remember, Louise, if you ever need me, just cable."

Louise reached Paris and after systematically searching the concert halls, music palaces, and studios without unearthing a trace of Francetti, she contented herself for the time being with the thought that she was sure to run across him sooner or later.

She chose to live in a quaint old chateau on the outskirts of Paris. Her room on the first floor had French doors which opened on a small balcony overlooking a rose garden. She sat on the balcony night after night, thinking of Marsh, wondering if perhaps she had been precipitate in crossing before he had had time and opportunity to send her his address.

"But surely his letter would be forwarded to me," she argued, just to quiet her fears.

One particularly bewitching moonlight night she sat on the balcony, craving something of the poetry of life which had been snatched away from her with the passing of Francetti.

Suddenly, down the long, dim alley of her thought, something approached. Far away, like a procession glimpsed at the end of a narrow street, it came. Nearer—something insistant, demanding attention, yet tender, beautiful, unearthly sweet. It was music! Someone was playing a violin in the garden and in another moment Louise recognized the song without words, of which she had just been thinking.

A joyful wave of anticipation swept her. No one in all the world could play that as Marsh played it. Seizing a silken scarf, she wound it about her shoulders and hurried into the garden. Softly, almost inperceptibly, like a heavenly voice, the music stole through the night, weaving that song of unbearable yearning, imploring her to hasten.

She sped with quickening pulses along rose bordered paths toward the fountain. As she neared the spot a brilliant ray of moonlight shone directly upon the marble bench, revealing Marsh Francetti just discarding his violin to take into his arms a beautiful girl who sat beside him. Stepping behind the shrubbery, Louise heard the words she thought were the death knell to all romance for her.

"I love you, Yvonne," Marsh was saying. "You are the one woman in the world for me—my real inspiration. Tomorrow we must part for a little while, but every day during our separation I shall play what I have just finished playing—a song without words, composed only for you. It will bring you closer to me."

Louise did not wait to hear any more. Like a destroying flame, the black wraith of disillusionment arose within her, sweeping everything before it; leaving only a shamed wonder that she could have been so charmed—so blind. Suddenly she remembered Tony's way of expressing what Francetti did to women—"bamboozled them," Tony called it. Her heart reached out to her old lover in this crisis, with a yearning she could not classify. She longed to cast her own weakness against his moral strength; to know again the honesty, the sincerity of such a love as his.

Hurrying back to the chateau, she put into execution a plan which had been gathering strength with every step. She called a messenger and dictated a cable to Tony.

"Need you. Come at once and take me home. Weezie."

Steam Costly, Town Bans Curfew

DOVER, O., June 20.—City dads yesterday abandoned the curfew system because a steam whistle proved too costly. Council several years ago contracted with a local plant to blow the curfew at 9 o'clock at night. Several days ago officials of the plant demanded more money, claiming the stack, three feet in diameter, consumed too much steam, particularly with the present high fuel costs.

RAILROAD VOTE GIVES SMITH SCANT LEAD

SMITH—61.
HOOVER—57.

Hoover and Smith ran neck and neck in The Sun-Telegraph's straw vote among railroad employes at the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie stations, Smith being chosen by 61 persons and Hoover by 57. This gives a total of 1,606 individually canvassed ballots for Hoover and 1,518 for Smith.

The totals are now as follows:

	Hoover.	Smith.
Oliver Building	367	167
Westinghouse plant	302	300

Total	1,606	1,518
Mail vote	403	1,828
Grand total	2,009	3,346

The ballot taken at the railroad stations includes expressions from trainmen, trackmen, clerks, ticket sellers, car cleaners, porters and others. It was indicated that the preference four years ago of those questioned showed 53 voted for Coolidge and 13 for Davis. Four said they voted for La Follette. A total of 1,830 persons voting in The Sun-Telegraph's straw vote favored Coolidge four years ago and 330 favored Davis.

TWO STOLEN IDOLS

MYSTERY! THRILLS! ADVENTURE! LOVE!!!

by FRANK L. PACKARD

Bob Is in Love With Verna And Plans to Leave Her With Friends at Kalawa

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The body of Tom Kingsley is picked up by Capt. "Scarface" Sweeney and his mate, Marlow, off Singapore. Tom's brother, Robert, also an old "sea dog," is notified of the death and receives articles found on the corpse. Among these are two small but handsomely carved Ivory Idols. Robert Kingsley has good reason to believe that Hsi Yan, an ancient enemy, has returned after 30 years to seek vengeance. The Idols are stolen and Young Bob starts out to recover them. After many adventures Bob and Verna Lyle are both prisoners at Richardson's plantation. The Malay whom Bob had rescued plans Verna's and Bob's escape. Bob, still bound, is carried to safety by the Malay.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

IT WAS afternoon and the Alita, in a light wind, was tacking in for a point of land some five or six miles distant that showed now off the port bow.

Bob Kingsley leaned against the weather rail, his eyes on Tifu at the wheel—his thoughts far afield. It had been a strange voyage! They were ten days out from Aoru—and in another hour, or an hour and a half, they would make Kalawa. And in those 10 days scarcely a word had passed between Verna and himself. Kafan had served her meals in the cabin and had attended to her wants; no one else had been permitted to enter the cabin. The freedom of the deck had been hers, but it was only of late that she had begun to avail herself of it to any extent—as though slowly she were becoming less disquieted and less in fear of her surroundings. But—he smiled a little wanly to himself—he was not at all sure how she would act now, or, rather, react to what he had to say, and to what he proposed to do in this last hour just before Kalawa was reached. He would not, however, be long in doubt on that score, for a few moments ago he had sent Kafan below to tell her that they were making land, that there was something he must say to her—and Kafan had brought back word that she would come up on deck in a few minutes.

Bob Kingsley pushed his cap abruptly and uneasily to the back of his head. The breeze a little while ago had seemed cool enough—now it seemed suddenly hot and unrefreshing.

During all the voyage, though the crew had rigged up a bit of privacy for him, he had berthed forward with Nanu and the rest of the men. His wound had proved to be only a flesh wound, no infection had set in, and, other than keeping him below for the first four days, it had not amounted to much. But in those four days when only mental activity was possible, he had come to some rather definite, and perhaps drastic, decisions.

His first intention had been to take Verna direct to Singapore, and restore her to her family, assuming that others of her family besides Col. Lyle lived there, or, failing actual relatives, to her friends, of whom she must have many. But in those four days he had utterly discarded that idea. There were very many reasons why he had done so. Nanu had told him that a small schooner had been lying at anchor for several days just off Aoru and had still been there on the night the Alita had sailed. That was bad news. It presented an opportunity to get away from Aoru that Chen-shu would not overlook. To board the schooner in the dark, and surprise and overpower the three or four men, probably natives, who at most would comprise the crew, would be no more than child's play. It was so obviously the thing to do, and so certain of success that, in his own mind, he, Bob Kingsley, had already rated it as an accomplished fact. In any case, since there had existed a means of transportation, there was no longer any guarantee that there would be weeks and even months before Chen-shu could reach Singapore. Therefore, Singapore was no safe place for Verna. As a matter of fact, she wasn't safe anywhere so long as that idol was in her possession!

That had brought up another point. For her own sake she had to be so indubitably disassociated from the ivory god, both as to its possession and any presumed knowledge she had concerning it, that neither Chen-shu nor his fellow bandits at Singapore would have any further interest in her. There was only one plan whereby this could be accomplished so far as he could see, and he had determined to put that plan into effect. She must, whether she liked it or not, turn the idol over to him. After that he would go to Singapore, and there, in those underground haunts that he proposed to visit and to which he had the entree, he would either openly or with apparent incaution, as circumstances dictated, let the idol be seen. The news would travel fast, say, from Java Dick's den of iniquity; his possession of the idol would be speedily and unquestionably established, and his, thereafter, would alone by the trail that they would follow.

Bob Kingsley laughed suddenly in a low, hard way. A question of sticking his head into the lion's mouth? Perhaps, yes; perhaps, no. He had not forgotten that Chen-shu and the four men with him were not the only ones who had been on Hsi Yan's junk that night at Kalawa—and that he, Bob Kingsley, had set out to run them all to earth. What he now proposed to do would most certainly induce Chen-shu's other associates to show their hand, whether Chen-shu ever got back from Aoru or not. That was all he asked, and it would become, then, a question of who could play the craftier game. He had assumed that the headquarters of these human vultures was in Singapore, but whether he was right or wrong in that regard mattered very little. If it were elsewhere, the underworld exchange would still function with the same unholy efficiency. The fact that he was in possession of one of the ivory gods would become known to the men he was seeking quickly enough, and would draw them like a magnet to Singapore from wherever they might be. In any case, and whatever might happen to him personally as the outcome of this play of his to lure his uncle's murderers out into the open, and whether he himself were caught or not in the trap he set for them, Verna at least would be safe. She would be here in Kalawa, a two days' sail from Singapore. No one would know where she was, and Crowley and his wife would be only too glad to have her stay with them. There wasn't any question about her welcome. The Crowleys were the soul of hospitality anyhow, besides being old friends of both his father and his uncle. He shrugged his shoulders whimsically now. How shocked they would be when Verna accused him of murder!

That was exactly what she would do, of course. She was as hard as adamant. Not once had she unbent in the last ten days. The man that she believed had murdered her brother was—her brother's murderer. It began and ended there; that was where he stood in her eyes, that was the sole category in which she placed him. If, when she was on deck, he had persisted beyond a civil word of greeting she had immediately gone below. Ten days of it!

There was wistfulness in his eyes now, pain in the lines around his mouth. Life was a queer paradox! Every little mannerism of hers he knew—and loved. For hours at a time, unobtrusively, unknown to her, he had watched her when she had been on deck. That trick of hers—with head thrown back a little, inviting the breeze to caress the uplifted face and bare white throat! The sunlight playing joyously on the burnished hair! The eyes of her—as blue as the sea itself! And always in the moonlight she was like some cherished vision enticed out of the land of dreams to live before him again, vivid and real and existent, as all dreams are while they endure—and as unreachable, as unattainable as the dream entity itself!

She was as hard as adamant.

His hands gripped the schooner's rail tightly. Well, that was one more reason why she should not go to Singapore! Her first act there would undoubtedly be to go to the authorities and demand his arrest—and, temporarily at least, that would very effectively put an end to any effort on his part to dig the rats he was after out of their holes. It was quite true that eventually he might even ask aid from the police himself—but not in the character of an accused or suspected murderer!

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Miss Lincoln Is Distrait Throughout the Lesson

ELEANOR LINCOLN'S histrionic ability was not great enough to enable her to control the expression of her eyes. Her voice was mirthful, her words nonchalant as she asked if Mary had consented to see Noel, but she could not veil the anxiety in her great dark eyes which always remind me irresistibly of velvety pansies.

"No, she refused to see him," I answered, and then at a certain gratified gleam far back in those pansy eyes I could not help adding maliciously—

"He is an exceedingly crushed young man. Mrs. Underwood is now administering first aid."

"How terribly tragic!", she managed to say, mockingly, but there was an unsteadiness in her voice which made me suddenly ashamed of my malice. I turned briskly to the books on the table.

"Yes, isn't it?" I said lightly. "But our interrupted lesson will be more tragic if we don't get down to work."

"That's what I've been thinking," she acquiesced promptly, and we plunged into the lesson.

But my young neighbor's behavior gave the direct lie to her words. She was distrait, inattentive, especially so when Noel came to his parked car, started it, and drove rapidly away. She was not especially well prepared, either, and altogether from a teacher's standpoint it was a most unsatisfactory hour.

I studied the girl carefully, if furtively, during the lesson, patently as boring to her as it was annoying to me, and I came to a definite conclusion concerning her. Even if Philip Veritzen had not some secret reason for subtly discouraging her stage ambitions while apparently furthering them, she had not the one track mind which is the first requisite of a great actress. Mary Harrison, for instance subordinated everything else to her work. Even when she had yielded to the glamour of being the masked dancer, she never had lagged in either the time or the energy which she devoted to the studies laid out for her. She had paid for that terrific double toil upon her strength with a severe illness from the effects of which she barely had recovered. But I knew that even now—suffering an emotion which dwarfed Eleanor Lincoln's wounded pride—for I did not give my young neighbor credit for a much deeper feeling—she was attacking her work with a wholehearted energy which would drive everything else from her mind until she had accomplished the task outlined for her.

Not so the young mistress of The Larches. Her lack of interest was so palpable that when the lesson was finished I spoke decidedly.

"Miss Lincoln this lesson is not nearly so satisfactory as yesterday's. We are only wasting both your time and mine in an hour such as we have just concluded. I think one reason for the trouble is that I gave you too much work to do, and not enough time in which to get it done. Now the rest of this week promises to be a busy one for both of us, and of course the beach picnic on Saturday will mean no duty upon that day. Therefore I am going to change the date of our next lesson from tomorrow until next Tuesday at this hour."

Her face crimsoned and she lifted her head with an imperious gesture. That she caught my rebuke was patent and for a moment I was afraid that she was going to take it in a manner which would leave me no choice but to put an end to the lessons altogether.

Self-Winding

Announcing the Very Unusual Privilege of Introducing to Pittsburgh

The New Automatic Harwood Wrist Watch

The Ultimate Development of the Watchmaker's Art—See It at the Watch Department, Street Floor

Something decidedly new and thoroughly practical! A watch that winds automatically and functions continuously simply by the unconscious motions of your wrist. And it will run for 24 hours after you lay it down!

The case is entirely enclosed—there is no winding stem aperture—in no way can dirt and moisture, the causes of so many watch disorders, reach the mechanism.

It is, in every respect, a dependable, precise watch and it is fully guaranteed by the Harwood Self-Winding Watch Company of America and by McCreery's.

Face Peeler Reveals Beauty of Youth

To make your skin naturally lovely and to preserve this youthful beauty, use regularly a little pure mercolized wax. Get an ounce at any drug store and use as directed. The wax peels off the outer layer of aged, or blemished skin gently but surely, removing all such imperfections as pimples, freckles and dry, coarse skin. With the removal of the cuticle, the new skin is revealed, clear, fresh, supple, with that lastingly lovely appearance of youth. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and age stains, use as a face lotion 1 ounce powdered saxolite and 1 half pint witch hazel.

The WRONG SIDE of the BED

GRUNTS. Scowls. Mutterings. What's it all about?

Oh, nothing much—just the way the Joneses start the day—about four days out of seven.

Don't they like each other?

Oh, yes—but they probably won't if they keep on this way.

Well!—what's wrong with the Joneses? Probably something that isn't usually mentioned in polite society: Intestinal sluggishness . . .

YOU know how intestinal sluggishness ruins the sweetest disposition, how it saps energy, invites disease. Yet you probably share the distrust of most intelligent people for ordinary laxatives; cathartics that wrack the system—health foods that take weeks to act . . .

Feen-a-mint is Different!

You don't swallow it hastily—you chew it, exactly as you would a delicious bit of chewing gum. And as you chew, its tasteless yet almost magically effective laxative principle begins to mix with the mouth fluids and actually becomes a part of the digestive process!

So, instead of striking the body a blow without warning, as it were, Feen-a-mint gently helps the system to help itself!

Results are amazing. A new vitality and a sense of fitness—a fresh, clear-eyed, up-in-the-morning-early feeling, as hundreds of thousands of men and women know. You will find this wonderful laxative at your druggist's. Take a Feen-a-mint tablet at any time, confident of feeling a different person in six to eight hours.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

OPERA will be prominent in tonight's radio entertainment. "The Tattooed Man," a comic opera in two acts by Victor Herbert, will be an NBC feature to be heard over KDKA at 9 o'clock, during the Philco hour broadcast. Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More will be the featured soloists. At 10 o'clock another comic opera, "Chimes of Normandy," will be offered over WJAS and other Columbia Chain stations. A half hour later the National Grand Opera Company will present "Bianca." This opera, postponed from last week because of the Republican national convention, will be heard over WCAE.

A new NBC entertainment series will be inaugurated over WCAE at 8:30 o'clock. It is to be known as "Venetian Nights." It will depict, in words and music, excursions down the Grand Canal of Venice. There will be a Venetian ensemble, comprising a harp, mandolin, violin and cello. Incidental lyrics will be offered by Giuseppi di Benedetto, National Grand Opera tenor.

A new feature also will make its debut on the Columbia chain. It is to be known as "Stardust and Moonbeams." WJAS will be in the hookup and the program goes on the air at 10:30 o'clock. This presentation will endeavor to glorify the celestial bodies, as depicted by masters of musical compositions.

"Home Again," composed by Gertrude Martin Rohrer, prominent in Pittsburgh musical circles, will be rendered during the Maytag Ramblers' presentation over KDKA at 10 o'clock. Other selections will be "Elegie" and "From Monday On," by the orchestra, and two vocal duets. "Because You're You" and "The Song Is Ended."

Over 500 Miles of Concrete Highways in a Single County!

Wayne county, Michigan, (Detroit) has over 500 miles of concrete highways, with pavements from eighteen to eighty feet wide.

Nineteen years ago, this county built its first stretch of concrete road. Year after year, the Board of County Road Commissioners has continued building concrete highways, to complete a road system planned in 1906.

Many of the older pavements have been widened. Some have been torn up to make way for wider pavements at a different grade—but no concrete pavement has worn out!

No wonder Wayne County keeps on building concrete roads!

LOUGHRAN-LATZO AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—(AP.)—Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, will meet Pete Latzo, of Scranton, in a return bout for the title in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 16, it was announced today at the offices of the State Athletic Commission.

SANDLOT BASEBALL by TOM BIRKS

WALTER WAITE, erstwhile Homewood infield star, will probably work harder in his new berth with Dormont to prove to County League fans and the powers that be Homewood was all wet when it handed him his release a couple of weeks back.

Waite has been keeping in shape, playing for the Westinghouse outfit in the Tri-Boro League, and the Braddock fans watching the games claim that Waite's throw across the diamond is just as keen as in other years.

IF this is true, George Falconer has taken unto himself the best shortstop in the County League, even giving young Kestner credit for being a wonderful prospect. Waite is the only shortstop in the league that knows all the batters in the loop and plays them accordingly. In this manner he makes hard plays look comparitively easy. So if Walter hits his stride, Ralph Wanner will be forgotten by the Dormont fans.

ANY first class teams of the South Side or the Lawrenceville district interested in the formation of a new league are requested to get in touch with Harry Beale, 2230 Bedford ave., or call Grant 4353 this week.

TONIGHT at McKinley Park, the Pleasant Valley nine, playing as the P. F. Rileys, will meet the Brown All-stars of Youngstown. The City League clubs will play each Wednesday evening at the South Hills grounds meeting good opposition. On Sunday the Smilers will meet the Jordans. Clubs desiring games should write J. Dunsky 1711 Patrick st., or call Lafayette 3997-W.

THE Greater-Pitsburgh ball club has strengthened it's team considerably by the addition of Dick Wetzel and Billy Morgan. Both lads have been playing in this vicinity for a number of years and should prove to be a winning factor for the South Side club.

The club is having a hard time booking games with teams in the light-first division and so in order to keep the team in playing condition the manager was forced to book teams playing in the semi-pro class. For games with the Greater Pittsburgh club, call Hemlock 1721-J or Hemlock 0157-M and ask for Leo McHugh or Tom McNally.

THE B. & O. Railroad Independents have organized a strong club for the season, and expect to compete with first class teams. They have started the season by winning over the B. & O. Terminals' by a score of 5 to 0. The B. & O. having yet to taste defeat at the hands of any other team. The Independents have signed Johnson former International League pitcher, Wells, infielder, formerly with Wheeling Bauers, Talley catcher, well known local sand-lotter, and ex-Virginia Leaguer. With these men and others the team has bright prospects for a successful season. Games are desired. Call Highland 5183-R and ask for Keith, any time during the day.

OFFICIALS REDUCE NO. 4 HOLE

CHICAGO, June 20—(AP.)—There was joy in the heart of golfdom today and the skill of Bobby Jones still lives.

The reason for such jubiliance at the Olympia Fields Country Club where the national open championship begins tomorrow was because the difficult No. 4 tournament links had been made a bit easier, even on the heels of concrete proof that its par could be beaten, for Bobby Jones turned in a 70 yesterday, one under perfect figures.

The decision to make the championship course a mite easier was reached by officials of the United States Golf Association and the country club following much argument after several of the leading golfers suggested the fourth hole be played from the forward tee, cutting 30 yards from the 398-yard hole.

Some of the golfers wanted to play the entire 18 holes from the forward tees, but this plea was refused, although the officials did decide to use the front tee on the fourth hole when it was found that even a good drive from the back tee would land on a slope and perhaps bounce out of bounds.

The decision to shorten that hole came not long after Bobby Jones had turned in the low practice score by shooting a 35—35—70, one under par. Previously a 72 carded by Tommy Armour, the defending champion, and one or two others, had been the low score and many of the golfers were commenting on the toughness of the course. Bobby himself, until he shot his 70, had contented himself with three rounds of 77, 76 and 79, leading experts to believe the winner of the title this year would turn in a card not much under 300.

La Barba May Oppose Taylor in Comeback

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(AP.)—Fidel La Barba, who retired from boxing while flyweight champion to enter Stanford University, is preparing to return to the ring.

The plan of La Barba to seek a comeback was disclosed today when Matchmaker Wad Wadhams, of the Olympic auditorium, announced he was attempting to arrange a bout between La Barba and Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, here, probably either on July 24 and 31.

Taylor's manager has agreed to the match, but George Blake, the former champion's manager, is holding off for better terms. Blake also favors a warm-up bout for his protege before he takes on a formidable opponent.

The return of La Barba to boxing, according to ring followers, would be in a heavier class than that in which he won the title. They point out it would be impossible for him to make the flyweight limit of 112 pounds, as it was difficult even in his championship days and he has developed considerably in the last year.

YALE GAME OFF

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 20.—The Yale-Harvard baseball game scheduled here today was postponed because of rain.

FIVE MARATHONERS CHOSEN FOR OLYMPICS

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS.)—Five of the men who will represent the United States in the marathon run at the Olympic Games have been named by Lawson Robertson, head Olympic coach. They are: Joie W. Ray, Clarence De Mar, Albert (Whitey) Michelson, William Agee and Harvey Frick. Only one more place remains to be filled, and the lucky man will not be known until the next executive session of the American Olympic Committee in this city.

Ray won the Long Beach Marathon and De Mar captured the Boston Marathon. Agee and Frick ran one-two in the Baltimore to Laurel Marathon, the stiffest course in the United States. Michelson finished second in the Long Beach Marathon.

JUNIOR COEN WINS

LONDON, June 20.—(AP.)—Wilbur F. (Junior) Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, 16-year-old member of the United States Davis Cup tennis team, reached the fourth round of the London championship tournament today by defeating H. G. Mayes, Canadian veteran, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4. Earlier in the season, Mayes forced Rene La Coste, French star, to five sets.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Flint, Mich.—Pete Firpo defeated Tommy Ryan, 10 rounds.

At Detroit—Johnny Datto defeated Chick Suggs, 10 rounds.

At Los Angeles—Tony Fuente defeated Big Boy Peterson, 10 rounds; Andy Mitchell defeated Pete West, 8 rounds.

At Jacksonville, Fla.—Kid Williams knocked out Young Jack Dempsey, 2 rounds; Dick Gore knocked out K. O. Downs, 3 rounds; Bill Rowe knocked out Big Boy Wamble, 6 rounds.

At Youngstown—Freddie Fitzgerald defeated Joe Trippe, 10 rounds; Johnny Plai knocked out Eddie Clarke, 2 rounds; Johnny Kusic knocked out Eddie Litz, 1 round; Elmo Clark defeated Max Brown, 4 rounds; Jacinto Baldez defeated Danny Raeburn, 6 rounds.

JEANNETTE, SCOTTDALE GAME ENDS IN DISPUTE

JEANNETTE, Pa., June 20.—Jeannette and Scottdale played 11 innings to a dispute in a torrid Mid-Atlantic League game here yesterday. In the eleventh inning of the fray, when the bases were loaded, Spitaleri of Scottdale flied to Smittle, who threw to second base for what appeared to be a double play and the third out. Manager Flaherty, however, claimed Smittle had trapped rather than caught the ball, and urged that two runs which had been scored be allowed. No official umpires had appeared for the game, and Knetzer and James, working the game, made no victory award.

TO HOLD SHOOT

The Brookview Gun Club will hold a trophy shoot Saturday afternoon at the club grounds, located at Babcock boulevard and the Brooks Farm. The grounds can be reached by taking a Harmony Route car to Brooks Stop.

WOMEN LINKS STARS HERE

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

Prominent women golfers from all over the country will participate in the women's invitation tournament at the Allegheny Country Club on Friday and Saturday. Among those who will participate are Miss Helen Payson, Miss Virginia Van Wie, Miss Louise Fordyce, Mrs. Fred Letts, Mrs. Mary Jenney, Mrs. Dalton Raymond and Miss Fritzi Stifel. Several of the stars arrived here today.

Miss Van Wie is playing a practice match in a foursome at the Edgewood Country Club this afternoon.

M'LARNIN FAVORITE

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS.)—Jimmy McLarnin, hard-hitting Irish lightweight, is an 8-to-5 favorite to defeat Phil McGraw, of Detroit, in their 10-round bout here tomorrow night. If he wins, McLarnin hopes to get a return bout with Sammy Mandell, the champion, in Chicago.

GREENSBURG VICTOR

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 20—The St. Louis Giants, a Negro team from the Middle West, were unable to solve Willard Sands here last evening and the Greensburg Generals of the Pennsylvania League blanked the visitors, 4-0, in a seven-inning exhibition game.

RIFLEMEN GET HEARST PRIZES

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., June 20.—(INS.)—Straight-shooting young Kentuckians were honored yesterday when the Western State Teachers' College here was awarded the Hearst rifle trophy for the Southern section.

Gov. Flem D. Sampson presented the silver shield and the individual medals, symbolic of supremacy among R. O. T. C. rifle teams in the South.

"The courage and skill and nerve which you young men have shown in attaining this marksmanship," said the governor, "will enable you to excel in anything you may undertake.

"A very distinguished citizen, a man who has made his mark from the Atlantic to the Pacific, William Randolph Hearst, has offered this lovely trophy to the best marksmen. It was a splendid idea for Mr. Hearst to offer these trophies to stimulate marksmanship among our youths.

"Kentuckians have always been good shots. You remember it was these riflemen from Kentucky and Tennessee who went with Old Hickory to New Orleans and helped to prevent that city from falling into British hands."

Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of the Western Kentucky Teachers' College, presided. A summer school student body of more than 2,000 joined enthusiastically in the tribute to the school's riflemen.

Sterritt Cuthbertson of the board of regents also spoke.

FLYING CLOUD RETAINS LEAD IN MARATHON

ORICK, Cal., June 20.—(AP.)—Flying Cloud, Karook Indian, leading the San Francisco to Grants Pass, Redwood Highway Indian marathon, passed through this town in the lead yesterday. He was approximately 27 miles ahead of the second man, Melika, the old Zuni representing Willits, Cal. At this station, Flying Cloud had covered 340 miles of the 452-mile endurance contest.

Melika, 58 years old, left Eureka in the morning and after covering 18 miles was returned to that city by automobile. After a rest he was taken back to the point where he was picked up for a new start.

HEENEY BREAKS TRAINING WHEN ASSISTANT DIES

FAIR HAVEN, N. J., June 20.—(INS.)—Tom Heeney's drive for the heavyweight championship of the world, which started here a few days ago, has stopped for the time being. For the "Rock of Down Under" has broken training and will not lift a boxing glove or punch a sandbag until the first of next week.

Broken up by the sudden death of William Hennessey, one of the assistants at his camp, Heeney has decided he needed a change of scenery and has left his camp for New York.

DEMPSEY SHOW AUG. 27

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS.)—"The Big Fight," which will serve as a starring vehicle for Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor, will open the new Jamaica Theater, Jamaica, N. Y., on August 27. The Dempseys arrive in New York from Los Angeles on July 29 and begin rehearsals immediately. David Belasco will stage the production.

Concerning

New Low Prices on Goodyear Tires AND Tubes

A Statement BY C. E. HAMILTON PRESIDENT ALCO TIRE COMPANY

ALCO SERVICE WILL SAVE YOU TIME, TROUBLE AND MONEY

We announced last week a reduction in Goodyear tire and tube prices. Probably you saw our advertisement. I believe the present new low prices for Goodyear tires merit the consideration of every motorist.

Goodyears Now Lower Than at Any Time In Tire History

In spite of steadily increasing mileage and steadily improving quality, you can buy Goodyear tires today for less money than ever before—yet the service built into them is greater.

Greater Value Largely Due to Goodyear's Supertwist Cord

I think every motorist should stop in at our store and see demonstrated on a machine which we have for the purpose just how this remarkable Cord operates to protect the carcasses of Goodyear tires. Briefly, Goodyear Supertwist Cord has a distinctive ability to extend itself and recover. It does this instead of breaking—stretches very much farther than ordinary cord before it breaks.

Supertwist Protects the Goodyear Tire Carcass

It is known that Goodyear tires are free from shoulder breaks and other similar troubles. This is largely because of the use of patented Goodyear Supertwist Cord. When you hit a stone or brick, or ride a rut, this elastic Cord stretches easily and recovers. It loses none of its elastic strength in the process. Your tire carcass is uninjured by the shock—this meaning longer life, more mileage, freedom from repair bills and freedom from delay on the road.

Goodyears Meet All Price Competition— Including Mail Order Tires

Because of remarkable performance and outstanding long mileage, many motorists think of Goodyear tires as higher priced—but this is not so. You can match practically any unknown tire price here (including mail order)—and any Goodyear tire you buy from us will be a genuine Supertwist-Cord Goodyear. It seems to me that, with the new low prices in effect, you should come in and get all the facts about Goodyears before you buy tires.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1928 — TWENTY-THREE

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Lewis Says Mat Kings Are as Well Paid Yearly as Heavy Kings of Pugdom—Great Fighters Never Lose on Fouls—Sun-Tele Junior Golf Tourney Attracting Many Boys.

WHEN you read of the huge guarantees of $500,000 and more given to heavyweight fistic champions for defending their titles in the ring, it appears that the earnings of a heavyweight champion wrestler could not be nearly so great.

Strangler Lewis

But they're just as big, according to Strangler Lewis, the present champion of the mat.

"Why not?" he asks. "Of course, we have to work oftener, but in any event a champion wrestler can draw down as much as a title-holding fighter in the course of a year. Once you have attained the wrestling peak, you receive good offers for every night in the week for towns of various sizes throughout the country and you accept as many as you desire, or as many as can conveniently handle.

"THESE lead to big shows and rich purses at regular intervals. At present, for instance, things are ripe for a big championship mat show in Los Angeles, and by the time I work back to St. Louis the stage will be all set for a big catch-as-catch carnival there.

"This can be depended upon two or three times during a year, and in the meantime the pickings from ordinary shows are mounting up. It's not a bad game at all from a financial viewpoint."

The Strangler made these assertions in a wrestling discussion at a Los Angeles hotel, recently, at which Frank (Bull) Brown, the Pittsburgh baseball umpire, was present. Before leaving for Toledo, O., last night to take up his new duties in the American Association, Brown told of his meeting with the wrestling champion.

"I DID not read a newspaper for three years, as the result of my eyes becoming infected during a contest from something that was on the mat," said the headlock king, "and I spent $75,000 in those three years for unsuccessful treatment. After all that expense, which was wasted, my eyes were cured through prayer. That was the most serious ailment I ever contracted in wrestling. Severe injuries often are suffered, however, as wrestling is a strenuous sport. I was in bed for two weeks after Monte Munn threw me out of the ring.

Charley Hargreaves

"OF course, the word 'deadly' as applied to the headlock that I employ is all the bunk.' It only dazes my opponent, and the only one I remember having been further hurt by it is Joe Stecher.

"JOE'S face became twisted, and the force of the lock forced his lower front teeth through his lower lip, but he hung on for what seemed an age in spite of the loss of blood. Game? I have never seen his equal."

WHEN the Pirates make their reappearance on the home grounds today after being absent since June 2, the fans of the district will get their first look at two new players wearing Pittsburgh regalia.

One is Catcher Charley Hargreaves obtained from Brooklyn, and the other is Pitcher Bill Burwell, obtained from Indianapolis. Both of the newcomers are likely to be seen in action very soon.

On the other side four faces will be missing, Johnny Gooch, Joe Harris, Adam Comorosky and Ervin Brame having gone in the deal that brought Hargreaves and Burwell here.

BOXING fans are still debating whether it was an accidental or deliberate foul that caused Leo Lomski to lose to Pete Latzo in the sixth round of their recent engagement in Brooklyn. Lomski's friends contend the punishment he received may have confused his sense of hitting direction, but the majority of those who saw the fight opine that he was not so badly dazed as hurt and that he did not seem sufficiently stunned to unleash such a poorly aimed blow.

ONE ring veteran recalls that none of the ring's greats ever lost on fouls. No matter how severely they were punished, they did not cut loose low blows under heavy going.

Stanley Ketchel, it is recalled, was practically knocked out in the first hard mix-up in his first bout with Billy Papke. Papke hit the Assassin between the eyes so hard that Stanley was in a fog until the twelfth round, when he was really knocked out.

Ketchel took terrific punishment, was up and down, fearfully battered and both of his eyes were almost closed. Yet he was fighting blindly, swinging as best he knew how—and he

by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

JOHN H. IRWIN has just been re-engaged as basketball coach at Carnegie Tech for another season, despite the fact that his team did not win a game during the 1927-28 campaign.

Folks who shout from the housetops that college coaches must win at all costs or make way for those who can will find plenty of food for thought in this phenomenal turn of events.

IN announcing the retention of Irwin, the Tech authorities state that they realize he did not have the best of material during his ill-fated season and look for him to do much better in his next start. Irwin himself must feel the same way about it or he hardly would agree to take over the reins again.

Incidentally, the decision to keep Irwin reflects credit upon the powers that be in Tech athletics. There are few institutions that would risk criticism from the alumni, scattered far and wide, by re-engaging a coach who had failed to win a single contest throughout a season.

RECENTLY I asked Howard Harpster, Tech's brilliant quarterback and football captain-elect, who also is a member of the basketball squad, how it happened that Carnegie almost invariably had good or great football elevens, but rarely managed to turn out exceptional basketball fives, and his explanation was an eye-opener.

"Scholastic restrictions are such at the school that few of the students are able to plunge deeply into more than one sport in a term," he said. "For instance, in my freshman year I came out for football, basketball and track, but when I became eligible for varsity competition I cut out track and confined myself to football and basketball. Later it became a hardship to keep up with even two sports and I found other students in a similar predicament. Naturally, football is the most popular of

CORSAIRS TO SHOW STRONGER FRONT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

THE stillness hanging over Forbes Field for more than two weeks, was broken today as the Pirate hosts returned to their own ball orchard in quest of victories that will put them back in the National League race.

The Reds, flying high for the past month, invaded our city this morning and warfare between the two clubs will be resumed this afternoon.

The Pittsburgh players are not unmindful of a trap to Cincinnati less than month ago that tended to put the Buccos in the plight they still experience. On that occasion, the Reds defeated the Freebooters in four battles out of five staged and in each of the four setbacks handed the Pittsburghers, the Reds had only one run as a margin of victory. Naturally the Bushwhackers are eager to tie something heavy on the tail of the Cincinnati kite.

The barnstorming Pirates reached Pittsburgh shortly after midnight from Harrisburg. The team is in better shape physically than it has been for many moons, so there was a lighter step to the Bucs as they made ready for the first encounter with the Rhinelanders.

George Grantham, out for more than three weeks, with a broken finger, is able to return to his first-base post. Sparky Adams' general play of the past week indicates that the little keystone tender is back to his desired form. Adams has recovered from his attack of influenza.

Bush has several twirlers in shape to twirl today's contest. Either Hill or Kremer expects to draw the slim. It is likely that Pirate fans will get a chance to see Catcher Charlie Hargreaves in action provided Manager Hendricks sends Eppa Rixey to the mound. Such a move would bring the former Dodger into play.

With Meadows and Dawson hurling fine ball and Grantham clouting the ball for a homer, double and a single, the Buccos downed the Harrisburg club yesterday, 7 to 2. Four runs in the fifth inning put the game in ice for the Buccaneers.

Godfrey, Risko Ready

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.)—Advised by Tex Rickard to keep on fighting if he hopes to get a shot at the heavyweight title, Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, returns to the fistic wars tonight in a 10-round bout with George Godfrey, giant Negro.

Johnny fought his way through Rickard's winter elimination tournament and ended with a slightly higher percentage than Tom Heeney, who meets Jene Tunney for the title here on July 26. Risko lost a decision to Heeney at Detroit before the tournament started, so the New Zealand blacksmith plucked the prize plum. Johnny won, but he didn't get anything.

Godfrey has been doing all the serious "black menacing" since Harry Wills was forced into retirement. His great size and a decision victory over Paulino Uzcudun, the battling Basque, have made him a 7 to 5 victory over Risko. Boxing critics generally feel, however, that Risko will outspeed and outpunch the big Negro and gallop off with the decision.

PLAN TOURNEY START TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Torrential downpour again yesterday accorded a setback to inauguration of hostilities in the fortieth annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships, originally billed to get under way Monday under P. A. A. auspices at the Pittsburgh Golf Club. Early morning rains that soaked local turf to quagmire-like soddenness desisted quite a while before noon, but not until they had effectually precluded possibility of play at the golf club or on the rectangles of the Winged Head in Schenley Farms.

Numerous racqueters who had foregathered at the golf club dispersed when it was definitely decided well toward mid-afternoon that competition was out of the question.

The loss of two-playing days, coupled with the fact that hostilities did not follow age-old cusom and begin on Saturday, throws the tournament into desperate straits if it is complete its program on scheduled time. Another attempt to get under way was slated for today.

Miss Dorothy Jarvis of Sewickley will defend her West Penn women's laurels against a formidable field the ladies' draw boasting 16 names, including those of such luminaries as Mrs. W. S. Muckle, North Side star; Miss Elizabeth Labarthe, a skilled newcomer to the local fold; Miss Miriam Sullivan, P. A. A.

GOLDEN BEARS CROWNED 1928 CREW CHAMPS

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—(AP.)—The captainless crew of the University of California swept down the Hudson River last evening to beat Columbia, gallant defending champions in a dazzling duel and smash the 27-year-old record for the classic four-mile championship race of the intercollegiate regatta.

California beat Columbia by three-quarters of a length in a thrilling last mile duel between the two favorites and beat the old course record by 17 2-5 seconds as they swept across the finish mark, dimly visible from the shore in the astonishing time of 18 minutes 35 4-5 seconds. Both of the main contenders for the regatta's premier prize were well under the former record of 18:53 1-5 set by a great Cornell crew on July 2, 1901.

Skipperless though they were, with their two captains looking on in the roles of substitutes, these Californians rowed the race of their lives to outlast Columbia in a dazzling finish, whip their Far Western rivals, Washington, and outclass the rest of the boats in the long chase. Washington, hanging on grimly but unable to match the closing pace of either of the leaders, finished third, nearly two full lengths behind Columbia, with Cornell, the Naval Academy, Syracuse and Pennsylvania parading across, well distanced and beaten, in that order.

In marked contrast to their previous standard, the Navy was never a contender in the varsity race but won both of the other races. The two-mile freshman jaunt in decisive fashion and the three-mile junior varsity contest in record-breaking style as Cornell, in the best showing made in eight years by the Ithacans, furnished the runner-up each time.

Barely outlasting Cornell in a thrilling finish to the junior varsity event that saw them only two-fifths of a second apart, the Navy hung up a new record of 14 minutes 18 seconds for this event.

The regatta summary:

VARSITY RACE, 4 MILES.

California	18:35 4-5
Columbia	18:38

NOTES of the BOXERS

WYOMING WARNER and Nando Tassi box the six-round semi-final to the George Godfrey-Johnny Risko bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tonight. Floyd Hybert and Georgie Levine, welters, mix in another feature bout.

Maxie Strub, of Erie, and Mike Ballerino, of Bayonne, N. J., former junior lightweight champion, will box the main bout of the opening show of the season in the Academy of Music at Conneaut Lake Park next Wednesday night.

Boxing fans from all over the tri-state district are planning to attend the opening show at Billy Jolly's new fistic bowl in New Castle next Monday night, according to the reservations so far made. Emmett Rocco and Battling Levinsky will box the main bout.

Jules Beck has completed the card for his open-air show at the Duquesne Steel baseball park Thursday night of next week. He has Phil Scello and Young Saylor paired for the main event of 10 rounds, Jack Katkish and Johnny Carey in the six-round semi-final, Chuck Semach and Ray Crawford in the second event and Jimmy Belmont and Tiger Billy Nixon in the opener.

Tom Harris has turned professional under the management of Tom Bowler and George Kalb and will make his debut as a paid boxer against Henry Slate in one of the preliminaries to the Emmett Rocco-Battling Levinsky bout at New Castle next Monday night. Terry McManus is on the same bill against Young Denvy, of Midland.

REDS BUY INFIELD STAR FROM COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—(AP.)—Jersey Joe Stipp, Columbus' third baseman and leading hitter of the American Association, has been sold to the Cincinnati Reds, President Joe F. Carr, of the Senators, has announced.

Stripp will report to the Reds at Cincinnati Sunday. In return Columbus will receive a cash consideration and five players, who are to be delivered as soon as possible.

DOUTHIT AFTER RECORD

TAYLOR DOUTHIT, star outfielder of the Cardinals and the first major leaguer to get 100 hits in the 1928 campaign, is aiming high. After boosting his total to 101 with three blows yesterday, Douthit set sail for George Sisler's record of 257 hits in a single srason.

CHILLY SAUCE By CHILLY DOYLE

THE Brilliant play of Marty Callaghan and Pid Purdy of the Reds is a feather in the cap of Bobby Wallace, former Millvale citizen and one of the ranking shortstops baseball has produced. Wallace is a member of the Rhineland household, his broad domain stretching to the far-off Pacific Coast, where he succeeded in adopting Marty and Pid.

CALLAGHAN was one of the influenza victims at the beginning of the season and therefore was too weak to show his real prowess. John Miljus declared that he stood out among the outfielders of the coast circuit and the fleet southpaw batter apparently is a real star at the plate, for his hitting to date is better than it was in the Class A. A. circuit. Marty is up with the topnotchers.

PURDY made a fine start. The tiny outfielder was able to send a Pirate-Red fight into extra innings recently in Cincinnati. Two were out in the ninth and the Bucos had a one-run lead with a man on base when Pid slapped out a hit that led to an eventual victory.

EVERY season you hear of obscure stars who are given scant credit for what they accomplish. I would like to nominate the unsung catcher who has worked tirelessly and cleverly to keep the Reds in the flag fight—Val Picinich.

MUCH has been written of a commendatory nature regarding Leo Hartnett, Jimmy Wilson, Bob O'Farrell, Frank Hogan, and others, but you don't read many eulogies of Picinich, the smart and aggressive lad of the raven locks whose catching and hitting have been strong points in the performances of the Rhineland crew. Val's connection with the Reds is something akin to Pie Traynor's hookup with the Pirates—he is not noted in other than a commonplace way until he is missing.

WALLY PIPP, dependable first-sacker and always a dangerous hitter, is a potent force in the morale of the Reds. Pipp radiates personality and character; he is the winning type of player and he possesses the faculty of forcing his wiles on his brethren.

IN HUGHEY CRITZ, Horace Ford and Chuck Dressen, the Reds have three little gems of purest ray serene, who, it is happy to state, did not have to waste their sweetness on the desert air, because of their comparatively small bodies. There's a trio of fighters who refuse to accept defeat until the game is over.

Both Reaped Big Harvest

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—Red Grange and Charley Pyle, the Damon and Pythias of professional sports, have canceled their partnership.

"We are severing our business relations under the friendliest feelings," said their joint statement last night. "Our contract has expired. We have various interests to look after personally and therefore deem it inadvisable to sign a new agreement."

The statement said Pyle and Grange remain personal friends "and hope always to be such."

GRANGE WANTED SPLIT

Dissolution of the partnership after three years was understood to have been at the insistence of Grange who desired to be free to direct his athletic and moving picture activities as he saw fit.

The Grange-Pyle combination was born in 1925, when Grange became one of the most talked of men in college sports by reason of his prowess as a football player at the University of Illinois. Pyle, who operated a moving picture theater near the university, saw the possibilities for large financial reward through diversion of Grange's talents to professional football and the movies.

Grange, through the managerial assistance of Pyle, thus became a pioneer in the field of big money via football. He never was the sensation on a professional gridiron that he was while playing halfback for Illinois; but his name drew thousands of dollars to the football games in which he played.

The prominence of his name gave Grange numerous other chances to profit, chiefly through testimonials for manufactured products. His moving picture contracts returned even more.

Pyle's success in promoting Grange led him to branch out into other sport fields.

SIGNED NET STARS

His conversion of Suzanne Lenglen and Vincent Richards from amateur to professional ranks was the first important inroad to be made into amateur tennis by any sports promoter. His trans-continental foot race, recently completed, was a novel sports promotion which, however, was generally presumed to have proved a costly adventure. Grange, although acting as an official of this race, said he was not financially interested in it.

The joint statement of Grange and Pyle announced Grange's permanent retirement from professional football, owing to the condition of his knee, which has troubled him for some time.

Grange said some time ago that the family home at Wheaton, Ill., was for sale and that as soon as a buyer was found he would move to California to be near his moving picture work.

courtesy of the course on that date."

It was none other than John Jay Burke, executive committee man of the public links section, United States Golf Association, who went before City Council yesterday and made an eloquent speech in behalf of the cause. He cited the widespread interest in the event, as well as the great advantages such a tournament provided for the younger element of the game of golf. After all was said and done, the Council and Director Lang were quite enthusiastic.

Well, boys, inasmuch as Thursday, July 12, has been set for the big event, don't forget to write it down in your note books. The entries will close on Monday, July 9, so get yours in in a hurry before all the places have been filled up.

Of course you are aware of the condition under which the tournament will be conducted. There are to be two classes, a junior and sub-junior division. The junior class will include boys between 15 and 18, and the sub-junior boys 14 and under. It is necessary that you be strictly an amateur as defined by the United States Golf Association, and 18 years old or under, not attending a school of education above high school grade. If you are a caddie and have not accepted money after your sixteenth birthday, you are welcome, but if you have accepted money after your sixteenth birthday, we are sorry to say you have professionalized yourself, and are out.

It costs nothing to enter the Sun-Tele's tournament. There will be many beautiful prizes.

Fifty-eight entries already are in the fold, and the blanks keep coming in. Don't forget to send in your photograph with your entry, and if you are not fortunate enough to have a picture of yourself, come in and see the Golf Tournament Editor and he will be only too glad to have one taken for you. The Sun-Telegraph wants the picture of EVERY boy who competes in its golf event. And if you already have entered and did not send a picture in—we are expecting it in the next mail.

There are 58 entrants to date. The names, addresses, age and class of those added to the 33 of yesterday follow:

Frank McDonald, 13, Springdale avenue, Elm Grove, W. Va. (Sub-Junior).
Edgar Stepp, 9, 486 Norton street, Mt. Washington (Sub-Junior).

SPEAKING OF SPORTS by HARRY KECK SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

varsity sports, and all of those who are able to do so concentrate on it.

"The result is that when they get through a hard football season, they find they must dig in to catch up on the scholastic work that they have been forced to slight to find time to practice and play football. Basketball comes immediately after football, and few of the football men, usually the best athletes in the school, are ready to jump into the new sport. And when they do get in they are so burdened by the necessity for catching up with their studies that, for a time at least, they are unable to give the floor sport their full attention."

ONE of the men who was pleased by the renewal of Coach Irwin's contract was Dr. H. Cliff Carlson, coach of the undefeated Pitt Panther basketball squad during the past season. Like others, he feels that Irwin can give a much better account of himself with a year of preparation behind him, and he is glad to see him get the chance.

Dr. Carlson agrees with Harpster that engaging seriously in more than one major sport takes a great deal out of a student and believes the day is coming when the all-round college athlete will be almost as extinct as the well-known dodo bird.

"This is an age of specialization," Dr. Carlson said, "and the one-sport athlete will be the man of the future. He will concentrate on his specialty in season and think about it between seasons, the while he prepares himself scholastically to be ready to give himself fully to his sport when the time comes."

DR. CARLSON, by the way, is a refreshing departure from the every-day run of coaches. He is the aggressive type, the go-getter, the coach who believes in his system and wants his players to believe in themselves. Instead of bewailing the obstacles he faces and minimizing his chances for success, he preaches a doctrine of victory. He tells his players they have a chance to win every time and are EXPECTED to win, and he wants them to be disappointed in defeat. That probably explains in a measure the amazing success of his proteges during their most recent season.

JOHNNY RISKO looks from this corner to have an excellent chance of pricking the George Godfrey bubble in their 10-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tonight. While Godfrey will have some 50 pounds in weight on him along with height and reach, Risko is a game mixer to whom such handicaps mean little. Godfrey will have to be much better than he has shown in recent bouts to beat the stocky heavyweight who defeated Jack Sharkey, who holds a victory over Godfrey.

CREW CAPTAINS NAMED

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—(INS.)—Stanley Abbott, stroke of the Cornell Varsity crew which put up such a gallant fight in the intercollegiate regatta here yesterday, has been elected captain of the Big Red Eight for next year. Charles Conners, No. 6 in the Syracuse varsity, was chosen to lead the Orange oarsmen for next year.

didn't once hit low. Ketchel, a terrific puncher, never once lost on a foul.

BOB FITZSIMMONS fought them all for 34 years, and baring Wyatt Earp's robbery in Bob's first bout with Sharkey, Fitz never was even accused of hitting low.

George Dixon, Kid Lavigne, Jack McAuliffe, Joe Choynski, Tommy West, John L. Sullivan, Jim Jeffries, Tommy Burns, and others, also went through long careers without losing on a foul.

IT MAY be a season of sport upsets, in view of the victory of the California crew in the big Poughkeepsie, after it had failed in every previous year it entered.

IF GEORGE GODFREY were as good as he is big, there would be nothing to the 10-round bout with Johnny Risko in Brooklyn tonight, as a good big man is always better than a good little man. As it is, however, there are so many points doubtful about Godfrey that Risko may pull a Jack-the-Giant-killer stunt, though until he actually has done it, Godfrey's size must be considered as giving him an advantage over his white opponent.

INSTEAD of being an old man's game, as some one who had never played it made the mistake of remarking once upon a time, it is going to run very much to the young here next month, when The Sun-Telegraph's first annual West Penn Junior Golf Championship for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, 18 holes medal, will be held on Thursday, July 12, on the Schenley Park links. It is open to all amateur golfers under 18 years of age who are not attending an institution of learning above high school grades. The best talent among the youth in this part of the country is entering rapidly, and it is already assured that the tournament will be one of the biggest and best for boys ever held anywhere. Perhaps a Bobby Jones of the future will be included among the boys teeing off at Schenley three weeks from tomorrow.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE McKeesport Tin Plate Company is operating its mills at over 90 per cent of capacity. Production has been maintained at this rate during most of this year. June, July and August normally are periods of active demand for tin plate so that a continuation of good business is practically assured until fall.

It is too soon for any accurate estimate of tin plate requirements for the 1928 packs of fruits and vegetables but manufacturers of cans are buying in anticipation of a large business. Public requirements for canned goods are showing a fairly steady year by year growth. The packing of new products is further increasing this demand and, incidentally, it is building up the tin plate business.

THE tin plate producers have

What Future Possesses for Independents in Business.

By B. C. Forbes

MACKINAC ISLAND, June 20. —Reading the future aright is half the secret of business success. The men who manufacture and distribute automotive replacement parts and accessories, who are holding their annual gathering here, invited me as a rank outsider to express views on what lies ahead for the motor industry and those getting their livelihood from it.

Being entirely unhampered by any special knowledge, I could orate on the subject without the slightest restraint—empty vessels, you know, make the most noise.

BLUNTLY—perhaps a trifle brutally—I expressed the belief that a good many of them would be driven out of business within the next few years—either driven out or taken over by larger concerns.

UNQUESTIONABLY the motor industry is gravitating towards fewer and fewer companies. At this moment all you have to do is to glance at the prices of the stocks of various automobile companies to realize that they are even now losing out in the battle. Mergers lie ahead, not perhaps mergers of the magnitude of the Chrysler-Dodge combination, but of lesser magnitude.

It can be safely assumed that within five years almost the entire automobile business will be done by strong, powerful corporations, with, however, a sprinkling of small concerns headed by individualists, men unusually capable of providing superior designs, men possessing conspicuous talent for reading the public's style taste, so to speak. Probably there will always be room for a limited number of such manufacturers, but their total volume must be unlikely to reach important proportions.

NEXT let us examine the principles and policies of big motor corporations. What is the economic trend among them? What is their objective and how will its consummation affect the manufacturers of equipment, accessories, parts?

The objective of dominating corporations, in the motor world, as elsewhere, is to become self-contained, to acquire or create the plants necessary to supply them with the greatest possible proportion of their raw material needs and their needs for all kinds of parts.

WHAT does this spell for many of those now producing this, that and the next kind of equipment going into automobiles?

As I see it, small concerns not protected by patents and managed by only mediocre brains, are destined to be squeezed out.

Concerns of outstanding efficiency, headed by executives of unusual caliber, will either attain greater size and greater success as independents or will be taken over by gigantic motor companies. In most cases the latter development is more likely.

IS such a prospect discouraging?

Not at all.

The rewards for superior ability will be even greater in the future. Of course, it is delightful to have a sense of independence, to feel that you have your own business, that you are your own boss. But no man running a business is in reality independent. He is dependent upon all kinds of different forces, all kinds of new developments, all kinds of changes, all kinds of shifting moods and tastes and fashions. To have to meet a payroll every week is a very real responsibility, a very real obligation, a very real burden.

THE prospect of becoming a member of a big, even a gigantic organization, should have no terrors for those conscious and confident of their ability to hold their own when pitted against others. We must reconcile ourselves to the universal economic trend towards bigness, to the transition from individualism towards co-operation, to the evolution from the one-man to the teamwork method of conducting business.

THE towering corporation of tomorrow will pay far greater financial rewards than all but few individually-owned businesses have been able to yield in the past. The fittest will survive and prosper as never before. The individual will go to the wall. That is the law of economics as well as the law of nature.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, June 20.—Fears of black rust northwest, together with a sharp advance in Liverpool quotations, had a decided bullish effect upon the wheat market here. Unfavorable crop developments southwest continued also to attract notice. Opening 1¾c to 1¾c up, Chicago wheat held near to the initial range. Corn and oats were likewise firmer, with corn starting at ⅝c to 1¼c gain, but subsequently reacting somewhat. Provisions showed but little change.

At noon wheat was 1¾c to 2¼c net higher and corn showing ⅝c to 1¾c advance.

Wheat traders gave prompt attention today to a dispatch sent from Redfield, S. D., by a leading crop expert expressing apprehension about black rust. He said that if temperatures become hot before the surface soil is dried out a likelihood of black rust existed, as the period for the appearance of rust is at hand.

Indications of a large export business in wheat from North America today tended further to give an advantage to friends of higher prices. Estimates were current that overnight purchases for Europe totaled as high as 2,000,000 bushels, including considerable durum wheat from the United States.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

PITTSBURGH PLATE GLASS STRONG ON LOCAL LIST

'SUPER'-ROADS SOLVE DETROIT CONGESTION

Wayne county, Michigan, the home of Detroit, has devised a comprehensive system for relieving the highway congestion created by its many automobiles.

The system consists in widening and lengthening pavements. A minimum width of 40 feet has been established for all county roads. The main feature of the plan, however, is a group of super-highways ranging in width from 100 to 204 feet.

The most notable of these superhighways is the Detroit-Pontiac road, a 203-foot thoroughfare, 17 miles long, now in service. This road provides two 44-foot concrete lanes and a 40-foot area for rapid transit tracks between. The traffic on this road before widening was upward of 25,000 vehicles daily. Now that adequate room has been provided for the swift passage of many more cars, it probably is the most heavily traveled piece of highway in the United States, if not in the world.

Although this road is a recent project, it owes its inception to an improvement plan laid out by the county a little over 21 years ago. This provided for the improvement of about 350 miles of public roads outside the villages and cities.

The entire 350 miles have been constructed. As traffic conditions changed, the original plan was not abandoned, but rather enlarged. As a result, 157 additional miles have been built, so that Wayne county now has 507 miles of paved roads.

As the program developed, it eventually included a regional highway plan, covering the territory within a 15-mile radius of Detroit. According to this plan, there will be a road every three miles on a 204-foot right-of-way. The radial main arteries, also, will be of this width. At each mile interval between the super-highways, roads will be built upon 120-foot rights-of-way. On half-mile lines, the rights-of-way will be 86 feet wide.

Where the 204-foot super-highways intersect, the grades will be separated into three levels. Local traffic will be carried at the elevation of the adjacent property. One super-highway will cross above the local intersection and the other will cross below it. At intersections of the 204-foot highways with the 120-foot and the 86-foot highways there will be a two-level crossing with the narrower highway passing under the high-speed roadway and rapid-transit sections of the wider highway, but meeting the local roadways.

STEEL OUTPUT HOLDS LEAD

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade says:

The week has brought out new evidences of the attention producers of iron and steel are giving economies in marketing to cultivate foreign trade more effectively. The Steel Corporation and the Bethlehem Company have formed a common export organization, thereby providing a single outlet for 75 to 80 per cent of the rolled steel shipped out of this country. In domestic business, makers of both pig iron and steel are using waterways more extensively to expand market zones fixed by railroad rate barriers. Ohio River shipments of iron and steel from Pittsburgh district plants were the largest on record in May, and in the first five months of this year totaled 455,500 tons, or two and a half times the movement in the corresponding period last year. In the East, water shipments of merchant pig iron are in increasing volume, and the Buffalo producers have acquired storage space at New Jersey ports.

Steel production is holding its lead over the output last year. In the Greater Pittsburgh district a rate of 70 per cent compares with 65 per cent 12 months ago.

With output still on a relatively high plane, a good volume of bookings is indicated.

Producers of wire nails are finding it increasingly difficult to establish a price of $2.65 per keg, Pittsburgh or Cleveland, and $2.55 is more commonly quoted.

Increased inquiry for pig iron in the Pittsburgh district has been followed by stronger efforts by producers to stiffen prices.

Scrap is weak, and at Pittsburgh and Chicago prices on heavy melting steel have declined 25 cents a ton.

Both of the Iron Age composite prices remain at the levels of the past two weeks. That for finished steel is at 2.341 cents a pound, about 1 per cent lower than a year ago. That for pig iron at $17.23 a ton is 9 per cent below the $18.96 of last June.

COTTON MARKET

New York, June 20.—The cotton market opened steady today at unchanged prices, on a decline of 6 points, under selling influenced by indifferent Liverpool cables and favorable early weather reports. Comparatively small offerings were quickly absorbed by trade buying or covering, and prices soon showed net advances of 3 to 6 points, October selling up from 20.80c to 20.91c.

Buying was attributed to unfavorable private crop advices, but the market met somewhat larger offerings at the advance and prices sagged off 5 or 6 points from the best by the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported Bombay buying offset by local selling in Liverpool owing to favorable weather reports from the south, but said cloth demand from India was well sustained and that it was not expected the short time proposal in Lancashire mills would be adopted.

The first flash of the weekly weather report brought out more selling but it was absorbed on reactions of a few points, and the market soon turned firmer. Bullish features on the report evidently led to covering or rebuying by early sellers, while there appeared to be some character of most of the private crop advices. October ended up with the general list, showing net advances of about 19 to 22 points. Prices were within 2 or 3 points of the best around midday.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Money Unsettles Market.

The money factor was the main influence in the stock market today with the price movements reflecting the uncertainty and division of opinion as to general credit situation. No two opinions seem to agree as to how long the tightened money situation will endure or how much correction of the stock market price structures will be necessary to meet the reputed desires of the Reserve authorities. Some observers feel that easier money will follow the completion of half-year financing July 1, while others believe that relatively high rates will prevail over the balance of the year. In the meantime, traders on the stock exchange are watching closely for some sign that would indicate that the general list has reached a level which might be said to represent a balance as between the previous peak prices of the late spring boom and the low reached, or to be reached on the current downward movement. Some stocks apparently have touched levels at which good buying made its appearance, but the possibility of these being support orders placed to prevent a too rapid decline has kept many outsiders from picking up standard issues at what look like attractive concessions from the highs of a few weeks ago.

Bond Purchases Fall Short.

Federal Reserve banks purchased for the Treasury less than $100,000,000 Third Liberty loan 4¼ per cent bonds at 100 2-32 and accrued interest, against the original offer to buy $125,000,000. The offer to purchase expired yesterday.

Pittsburgh Plate Buys Paint Company.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has purchased Ditzler Color Company of Detroit, manufacturers of colors. This purchase will strengthen the paint and lacquer department and will be a means of better serving the automobile trade in Detroit district.

Smith-Corona Typewriter.

L. C. Smith and Corona Typewriters, Inc., has purchased the Miller Bryant Pierce Company of Aurora, Ill., manufacturer of typewriter ribbons and carbon paper.

Aeolian Dividend Omitted.

Aeolian Weber and Pianola Company omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock, due at this time.

A. P. I. Oil Figures.

The daily average crude oil production in the United States decreased 5,350 barrels for the week ended June 16, totaling 2,358,450 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,716,450 barrels, a decrease of 2,550 barrels. Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended June 16 totaled 210,286 barrels, compared with 221,143 for the previous week, and 231,393 for the four weeks ended June 16. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the week ended June 16, totaled 56,571 barrels, compared with 34,286 for the previous week and 46,357 for the four weeks ended June 16.

Bowman-Biltmore Passes Preferred.

Bowman-Biltmore Hotel Corporation deferred payment of the quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, due at this time, to conserve working capital and place the company in a firmer financial condition. The company said net earnings since January 1 were more than sufficient to pay all dividends on the preferred for 1928.

Freight Report Unfavorable.

The freight loading report for the week ended June 9 made unfavorable comparison and was rather a disappointing surprise to the Street, which had been expecting further improvement. Total cars loaded in the week of June 9 reached 995,960, an increase of 61,746 over the previous week, which latter period included Decoration Day. The increase, however, failed to absorb the decrease shown in the Decoration Day week as compared with the week preceding that. Decline in Decoration Day week from the previous week was over 90,000 cars, which leaves the latest week about 20,000 cars under the last previous full week. Comparison with the same week last year is also unfavorable, this week's report showing a decrease of 32,407 cars under a year ago, whereas the Decoration Day week showed a substantial increase, while the several weeks preceding had shown increasing ranging up to 50,000 cars. This week's report also shows a decrease of 56,511 cars under the total for the same week in 1926.

Corn Products Sales Expand.

A new high sales record for Corn Products Refining Company is estimated for the first half of 1928, running about 20 per cent ahead of the 1927 period. Sales in May were 17 per cent greater than in May last year.

Rivalry for Linseed.

The Postum Company, Inc., it is reported, is actively in the market seeking control of the food properties of the American Linseed Company. This in spite of the fact that the Gold Dust Corporation is also seeking the acquire the Linseed food properties.

To Reorganize Metal Exchange.

A plan of reorganization for the New York Metal Exchange, designed to make it an important factor in the metal world and to bring to New York much of the trading now carried on in London, is announced today by Erwin Vogelsang, president of the exchange. The plan embraces trading in futures, which would permit manufacturers to protect themselves against fluctuations in prices, by changing the practice of buying or selling for future delivery at a specific price. The new exchange also will have a clearing house.

Business on Even Keel.

The first half of 1928 is closing with business actively maintained on a singularly even level, the National Bank of Commerce finds. Insofar as prospects of the second half year can now be judged a continuation of this middle-ground sort of prosperity seems probable. The bank thinks the period should be better than the last half of 1927.

Aggregate Automotive Earnings.

Combined net income of 17 motor vehicle manufacturers for the first quarter of 1928, exclusive of General Motors, increased 20 per cent over the first quarter of 1927, the most marked improvement having been in the profits of Packard and Hupp, says the National Bank of Commerce. General Motors gained 32 per cent. The Ford Company was not included. Net income of 18 motor equipment companies increased 8 per cent, the most important gains being shown by Stewart Warner, Electric Auto-Lite, Bendix & Bohn Aluminum.

Insurance Volume Large.

Ordinary life insurance sold in May amounted to $834,357,000, an exceptional volume for a single month, exceeded only by the record production of December, 1926, and the slightly higher total for March, 1927, the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau reports. For the country as a whole, May sales were more than $80,000,000 ahead of May, 1927. The month's total for Canada was $19,870,000, a gain of 12 per cent over a year ago, and the largest volume ever written in a single month.

Refunding Abitibi's Debt.

National City Company Syndicate is arranging a $50,000,000 refunding operation by which Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Ltd., will retire all its present funded debt through issuance of new mortgage bonds.

Curtiss to Double Capital.

Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company has called a special stockholders meeting for July 2 to increase the authorized capital stock to 600,000 shares from 300,000 shares. The increase is to enable the company from time to time to finance expansion of plant facilities and to establish a measure of employe participation in the stock. There is no intention on the part of the company at present to increase its outstanding stock, as current funds on hand are ample to take care of current plant expansion.

Galena Oil at New Top.

Galena Signal Oil new preferred led the upward movement on the Curb Market today, advancing more than 30 points to a new top at 70. The old preferred also touched a new top at 67, up around 20 points, and the common moved to a new top at 12, up about 2 points. Most other oils also were strong, evidently on reports of a further decline in production, but gains were limited.

Steel Scrap Quoted Lower.

Prices of steel scrap in the Pittsburgh district show a further decline. Heavy melting No. 1 is quoted at $14 to $14.50, off 25 cents a ton. Subsidiaries of United States Steel Corporation are operating at 76 per cent of steel ingot capacity, the first time in some months that they have not exceeded the corresponding periods last year, and a decrease of 3 per cent from last week and 7 per cent from two weeks ago. One year ago operations were 78 per cent. Independent producers are now at 70.5 per cent and the entire industry at 73 per cent of capacity.

Buys Standard Oil Burner Company.

The Timken Detroit Company, subsidiary of the Timken Detroit Axle Company, has purchased the oil burner business of Socony Burner Corporation, subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of New York. The company announces a new model oil burner to supplement the larger Socony-Arrow oil burner.

Schulte Orders Cash Registers.

The Remington Cash Register Company has received an initial order for 5,000 cash registers from the Schulte-United 5 cents to $1 stores.

Expects More Liquidation.

J. S. Bache & Co. say: "With such sturdy support as was apparent late yesterday there is of course a possibility that those low points may have marked the definite turn of the market for the better. One can only quantify this view until such time as further tests have been made of the situation. Rallies seem indicated, but later this week we rather look for the higher prices in this particular recovery to invite renewed liquidation. The ability of the market to withstand pressure at or above yesterday's resistance points on such subsequent waves of selling will provide a real clue as to the next swing of security prices."

Retail Food Prices Up.

Retail food prices advanced a little more than 1 per cent from April 15 to May 15, according to the Bureau of Statistics of the Labor Department. They were 1 per cent less than on May 15 last year, but show an increase of nearly 60 per cent since May 15, 1913.

Authorizes P. & W. Va. Intervention.

Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the Pittsburgh and Western Virginia Railway to intervene in the proceedings incident to its anti-trust law violation citation against the Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroads for their acquisition of stock in the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad. Intervener is the principal objector to the acquisition of Wheeling and Lake Erie stock by the other roads.

Burns Brothers.

Burns Brothers, Inc., May profit was $160,441 before taxes, equal after preferred dividend, to $1.09 on the common A and 41 cents on the common B, against $93,356 profit in May, or 71 cents on the A and 5 cents on the B. Five months net totaled $944,130 or $6.10 on the A stock and $2.77 on B, as against $456,564 in the 1927 period, or $3.51 on the A and 18 cents on the B.

Franc Stabilization.

The French cabinet meets at 4 p. m. Saturday for final approval of Poincare's franc stabilization plan, which is expected to be 124.8 to pound sterling. The new rate probably will be announced on Monday. This is at the rate of 4 cents. American and British bankers believe the stabilization will terminate the outward movement of gold from the United States to France, following the shipment of $42,000,000 of ear-marked gold scheduled for this week.

Bethlehem Gets Big Order.

Bethlehem Steel Corporation has received an order for 45,000 tons of structural steel for the New Merchandise Mart to be erected in Chicago. The order involves about $2,000,000.

Erie Surplus Increased.

May surplus of the Erie Railroad, after charges, rose to $1,405,458 from $1,125,549 in May, 1927, and for the five months this year to $2,217,252 from $526,568 a year ago. Total income for five months was $8,347,627, against $6,556,043 in the same period of 1927.

Crop Prospects Improve.

While the market is not in a mood to accept favorable developments, there are some indications that factors are in the making which will affect the situation when stabilization has been reached. Particular attention is being given to the crop outlook in this connection. It is maintained that prospects have improved in many sections and eventually this will mean improved traffic for railroads, increased purchasing power for the farmer, and better business in many industrial lines.

Nibbling at Pittsburgh Coal.

Pittsburgh Coal has had several spasmodic upturns the past few days, but each flurry seems to bring out enough stock to halt the advance. There is growing belief that after many years steps are likely to be taken to put the coal industry on a paying basis, although plans may be drastic when finally decided upon. Should such a proposal be adopted it would cause a better feeling toward the coal stocks, which have been among the laggards in all the sharp upturns of the past four or five months.

Cancitaly Reported Selling.

A private wire to a local house today said: "Selling of stocks in the past few days has been traced to Bancitaly very definitely and we understand that funds realized have been used to protect their own stock in the market. As many of the issues sold were accumulated in the March break of 1926 a handsome profit was realized."

Bancitaly Reported Selling.

President Bacigalupi of the Bank of Italy, San Francisco, issued the following statement to Dow Jones: "Reports being circulated concerning earnings of Bancitaly Corporation and Bank of Italy are exaggerated and without official authorization. Our statements or earnings will come out at the regular time and until they appear nothing should be considered authentic."

Mellon-Union Bid Highest.

NOTICE TO RIVER INTERESTS AND ALL NAVIGATORS.
Construction of the third cofferdam at dam No. 6, Allegheny River will be started at once. This cofferdam will extend to a point approximately 180 feet from the river wall of the lock, thus reducing the navigable channel to appriximately 180 feet. The upper and lower corners of this cofferdam will each be protected by a red light except when high river stages prevent. Blue print copies showing the location of this cofferdam are on file at the U. S. Engineer office, Pittsburgh, Pa.
THE DRAVO CONTRACTING CO.

The application of the Henderson-Ohio River Bridge Company, for authority to construct a bridge over the Ohio River near Henderson, Ky., will be considered at a public hearing on the subject to be held by the Board of Engineer Officers appointed for that purpose on the second floor of the Soper Hotel, Henderson, Ky., at 2:00 P. M. (central standard time), June 21, 1928.

RADIENT BEAUTY!

Who wants to crawl out of bed at 4 a. m. and go through a lot of groaning radio exercises?

Who wants to diet on birdseed?

We thought so!

But everybody wants to keep slim. That is why we are giving away genuine Non-Skid Electric Reducing Vibrators to everyone who gets 5,000 paid-up subscriptions to this newspaper. All you need to do is attach it to your power lawnmower. Or, if you don't want the health vibrator, we will give you a genuine pigskin football, a magic lantern, Boy Scout flashlight or a pair of ball-bearing roller skates.

Sir:

I recently struck up an acquaintance with a nice old lady on a train. She asked me if I would get her a drink. I walked the length of the Pullman with a paper cup full of water. Imagine my embarrassment on presenting it to her when she said, "Don't kid me, Big Boy. I wanted gin."

Tom Heeney Smiles

Tom Heeney Thinks.

TOM HEENEY SMILES—"MY CHANCES ARE AS GOOD AS TUNNEY'S."

Here's Tom Heeney, the New Zealander who will fight Gene Tunney for the championship of the world, and can give any man a hard battle. He stands 5 feet 10½ inches barefoot—just the height of the great Sullivan—and weighs 200 pounds, 15 more than Sullivan at his best. His body is thick, springy and enduring, with big, smooth, quick muscles. He has never been knocked out.

The important title and the big crowd that will pay $1,500,000 and go wild over the fight, do not excite Heeney. He smiles and says: "I respect Gene Tunney. It will be an honor to meet him but he is ONLY ONE MORE MAN to fight. He has been in the ring twice in two years, and I've been at it all the time. My chances are as good as his."

TOM HEENEY THINKS—'TUNNEY IS ONLY ONE MORE MAN.'

When you watch Heeney smile as he talks about the battle you see that he means it when he says this is only one more job for him to do. He seems as easy in his mind today as Tunney was about facing Dempsey just before he took his title.

The happy frame of mind is a great help in any kind of struggle. The man who worries about his chances prevents himself from winning. Worry kills strength.

Heeney landed in New York a year and a half ago, with ambition to get to the top in fighting. He is a steady boxer, always boring in. He looks serious when he talks about his early battles.

"I got plenty of hard knocks but not much coin," he says. "Still it was fun to meet big fellows who were all trying hard. I was lucky enough to win, and every bout made me better for the next. Paolino Uzcudun, the woodchopper, hit me the hardest, but didn't feaze me. Woodchoppers are tough. I've chopped a lot myself."

Heeney was a blacksmith and a fine football player when he enlisted, at 19 in the World War. He beat Jack Squires for the championship of South Africa and Bartley Madden for the championship of Ireland. In New York he beat Charley Anderson, Jack De Mave and Bud Gorman, and knocked out Jim Maloney, of Boston, in one round. He bested Johnny Risko in 10 rounds and Jack Delaney in 15. A 15-round draw with Uzcudun annoyed him.

"What will you do against Tunney?" Heeney was asked.

"Go at him and hit him, same as the rest," Heeney answered, the smile dancing again in his eyes and playing over his rugged features. "I respect Gene you understand, but I'll mix it with him as soon as anyone. He's not fought much lately, so maybe he'll be tired after 10 or a dozen rounds. Then I ought to outlast him and beat him.

"I'm not saying I will do this or that; but I'm a tryer and I promise you I'll try."

The above is written by one who knows all about boxing, and will interest millions of young men.

BUT, in a few years, win or lose, Heeney will be forgotten. TRY TO DO SOMETHING worthwhile.

WATCHING THE KID NEXT DOOR

NEW YORK, June 20.—This story comes from an authentic source. It concerns the gathering of eight married and rather pleasure-surfeited couples to play bridge in an aristocratic street. Many drinks had been served and after the final rubber an old game was suggested.

The game was Truth—a simple pastime of hoopskirt days wherein every participant is pledged to answer truthfully any question asked. It was not expected the game would take such a serious and ghastly turn, but from all accounts it did.

All were slightly blotto when the questioning began, and stimulated by a false bravado it was apparent that despite the consequences the stark, ugly truth was being revealed. The first gentleman questioned admitted he had cheated at cards and had not been lax that very evening. He was the big winner.

This was somewhat stunning, but worse was to come. A wife exacted from her husband the information he had gone on two week-end trips with a lady present, but did not mention her name. Another wife admitted she had never loved her husband and was now in love with another man.

Still another confessed she had written a series of poison pen letters to the lady who was now her hostess. The affair had been placed in the hands of a private detective agency for solution. A man also revealed he was maintaining an apartment under another name.

All revelations were of this sensational sort and one was so degraded it can not be printed. The party broke up in white-faced terror, and most of the guests went home separately. An innocent diversion had become a grim and awful reality.

As a result two of the ladies have flitted to Paris for week-end divorces. A scandalous alienation of affection suit is in the hands of lawyers. One gentleman was called before his board of directors and given a curt dismissal. Drink and Truth had proved a deadly mixture.

Cheating at cards has proved a delectable theme for fictionists. I was once in at the death of a card cheating denouement in real life. A man who had for some time been suspected of sharp practices in a friendly poker game was trapped and exposed. All but the culprit came to the game knowing of the expected development, and there seemed to be that feeling among us that an animal lover might have in torturing a rabbit. Afterward most of us went home giddy with a sort of nausea. It ended poker playing for some of the participants for all time.

And there is little use to dodge the fact that the handkerchief-in-the-cuff idea for men is spreading. As a pioneer hooter in the wrist watch craze and finally a victim, there is little to be said out loud. One has to take it back eventually anyway. But at this particular moment it looks gosh-awful yoo-hoo.

Noel Coward, the London playwright, is the reputed originator of tucking the handkerchief into the cuff. He found it a solution to a search for a handkerchief during the torrid days of theatrical rehearsals. It is, of course, a revival of a custom flourishing in days when knights were bold and rapiers crossed at sunup. Even so I prefer to remain a hip pocket handkerchief boy.

* * *

Spats, monocles, wrist watches and handkerchiefs in the cuff can be worn in New York. Nobody gives a hang. But west of the Mississippi the tolerance is not so pronounced. One of the English theatrical stars says he substitutes nose glasses for the monocle at St. Louis when traveling westward.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Amidst Mountain Lightning

THE peak called the Meije, in the French Alps, is one of the famous hard climbers; i. e., hard to be climbed. Two amateur mountaineers, Messrs. P. Dalloz and A. Boniface, lately had an extraordinary adventure on the summit of this redoubtable mountain. They had made the ascent without a guide, in fine July weather, not understanding certain hints that the clouds and atmosphere were giving of a storm at hand. Neither some huge white clouds capping the Aiguilles d'Arves nor a strange buzzing in the air, like swarming bees, awoke their suspicions, but a few minutes after they had set foot on the head of the Meije the atmosphere suddenly turned gray, the rocks lost their sharp outlines, and a tempest of snow sprang upon them. All this occupied hardly five minutes. From a bright day on a snow-clad, sunshiny peak, they found themselves plunged into a whirling wind, driving before it clouds of snow and volleys of hail.

They could find no shelter except in a cleft of rock. The pointed summit on which they were imprisoned by the storm seemed to have been turned into an electric accumulator, and the air was filled with sharp whistling sounds like those of a whistle blowing off steam. At the same time they felt the hairs on their heads and bodies standing on end, this sensation being accompanied by a most irritating pricking of the skin.

The electric charge seemed to rise to a certain intensity, at which point an abrupt release occurred, marked by a sound like that of a red-hot iron plunged into water. They felt the attending shock especially in the elbows and knees. Suddenly there was a disturbance in the air, and the charge seemed to fall to zero. Thereupon a ball of fire, with its center of a pale straw color and the circumference of a violet hue, sprang into sight over their heads and disappeared in the mist. Coincidently a cold dry breeze stirred their hair. The ball of fire looked about as large as an orange seen at the distance of six feet. It was visible for a second, following a wavering course through the mist, and making a noise resembling that of an insect flying. A few instants later a rumble of thunder echoed from the Valley des Etancons. Then the whistling sound was again heard in the air, and within about a minute a second ball of fire appeared and followed the same path as that of the first. At the moment of its appearance the wind seemed to have totally ceased. Both observers noticed a strong odor of ozone when the balls of fire were seen.

The storm now moved off, and the mountain gradually cleared itself of clouds, but it was too late for the adventurers to attempt to descend. Luckily the night became serene, but a bivouac on such a mountain under any circumstances could only be extremely painful and perilous. However when daylight appeared they succeeded in descending without accident.

"Lightning balls" are very rare phenomena, so rare that many have doubted their actual occurrence. But the evidence for their occasional existence seems conclusive, and this story of an adventure with them on a lone mountain peak, on the very apex of what would seem to have been one of nature's temporary lightning rods, is unique.

The Chisholm Verdict

A COMMON subject of talk has been the sentence of George Allen Chisholm, Canadian war veteran, to life imprisonment for the murder of his two sons.

Even the judge did not believe that Chisholm, after having been gassed in the war, was normal. The method of the murder, when one reflects that the victims were the man's sons, also indicated abnormality. The sentence of life imprisonment seems to have been generally accepted as inevitable. To have taken the life of a man not sane would have, in all probability, outraged general feeling.

There is a sense of rough justice about a community which it is frequently impossible to ignore. Many pleas of insanity which have been successful in getting the pleader off have been rejected by this sense of justice. Their success has more or less discredited legal methods.

In the Chisholm case no such plea was made. Yet by the same sense it was felt to be reasonable. The verdict and the sentence of the court have been sustained by public opinion, and law has been accepted as equitable.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Men Talk Too Much

MOST men talk too much while in the society of other men.

It is tiresome to be with a man who is seldom quiet.

The talkative man says many trivial things.

He does not give himself a chance to evolve and present ideas that are worth something.

Especially is this true of the man who wants to make a good impression, and is of nervous make-up.

And that is where he makes a mistake.

Some of the most interesting men seldom talk unless they have a thought worth hearing.

The sharp, successful business man is alert for new, original ideas.

The prattler never has helpful suggestions.

In rare instances where such a man really wants to say something worthy of notice, he fails to get attention.

Not enough attention to grasp the good point, anyway.

To be popular you must not monopolize conversation.

And when you do say something you will make it worth while, as well as interesting.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Forgetfulness

SOME sing the praise of memory,
The endless bliss it brings,
Though all too soon glad hours flee
On Time's unresting wings.

In truth, as fairest days depart
Their beauties still we see,
We clasp their raptures to the heart,
The gifts of memory!

But, though our joys are cherished things,
Untarnished by regret,
Oblivion its blessing brings
In griefs that we forget.

Although at memory's shrine we bend
When done with day's long stress,
Our deepest thanks sometimes ascend
For sweet forgetfulness.

Isn't It So?

When people begin to whistle a popular air all the sentiment is blown out of it.

Lots of people are about half way between what you think they are and what they pretend to be.

All the world may be a stage, but just the same stage money does not pass.

If a man has sense of humor he knows when not to get funny.

Some charity begins at home but the best brand is directed toward the homeless.

Talesthatare Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE is a Scotchman that is making a fortune out of a movie house out in San Francisco, I'm told. Somebody got an interview with Sandy about how he makes his great success.

"Well," says Sandy, "the trouble everybody has with movies is to find seats. When customers come in they stay too long, and you don't get enough turnover. I have just as long a show as any of 'em. But I post signs all over the house that says, "You can't hold a seat without setting in it. When you get up, your seat belongs to somebody that's waiting for it.

"Then I just have the orchestra play 'The Star-Spangled Banner' every hour."

Out of Stock

THE patient saleswoman brought out the seventeenth hat. The customer seemed impressed, but her doting husband spoke up with decision.

"That hat does not become you, my angel."

The saleswoman produced another.

"And that certainly is not worthy of you, my angel."

"I fear we cannot suit your angel," said the saleswoman, finally. "We have nothing in the way of a halo."

Strange!

AFTER a dinner party, when all the guests were gathered in the drawing room, it was supposed that every woman should state the gift she most coveted.

Promptly each woman announced her choice. Mrs. Johnson wished for exquisite jewels, Mrs. Williams desired to be the best-dressed woman in town, while Mrs. Smith craved popularity. Suddenly, however, a tactless husband exclaimed:

"I say: Don't any of you care for beauty?"

They Stick You

ALEXANDER KERENSKY, one-time Russian President, said at a dinner in Philadelphia:

"The Bolsheviks conspire in every country, they plot against every government, and if you utter a word of disapproval—dear me, how their feelings are hurt! As sure as death they'll bomb you if they get a chance."

"Nevertheless," declared a rich radical, "The Bolsheviks, you must remember, have their good points."

"Yes," said M. Kerensky savagely, "the same as a porcupine has his."

Wedding-Present Wit

THEY were discussing a wedding present, a silver butter-dish, that they were sending off that morning.

"What shall we put on the card?" asked the wife.

"Oh," said the husband, "just the usual dope, I suppose; anything you like."

A few moments' thought followed, and then she handed him the card. It was inscribed, "For butter—or worse."

The Way to Profit

A NECESSARY factor in business is profit. Business may and should have other motives (notably good service), but without profit these cannot endure.

It is well known that the large units in business, upon the whole, excel the small units in the percentage of their profits. That is why the business of America is continually expanding into larger units. Big business pays.

A nation-wide survey of business costs and profits reveals some encouraging facts.

One is why big business tends to be more profitable than little. It is not simply because of its size, but because of its closer scrutiny of costs and trends, and because of its superior use of research.

Where the small business man is inclined to guess or take a chance, the management of big business insists upon knowing. Knowledge is power.

Co-operation offers a means whereby small units may attain the benefits of big. The prorated expense of careful research can put groups of small business men more nearly on a parity with the large units which control research in their own laboratories.

Once the access to knowledge is equal, success will go to the more efficient, regardless of initial size.

Luck in Writing

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The career of Trader Horn in literature illustrates the fact that a great deal of one's success is luck.

Here is a man that comes out of the wilds and writes a book. He is 73 years of age and has never written before. As near as I can tell, the judgment of a man up a tree is about what Dr. Johnson said about a woman preaching. "Sir," he said, "a woman preaching is like a dog standing on its hind legs. It is not well done, but you are surprised to find it done at all."

Trader Horn's wonderful vogue is surprising. That a man should come into the back door of literature and achieve such a remarkable popularity is no less than amazing. Of course, opinions may differ as to the value of his writing. John Galsworthy seems to think it is fine. I have read it pretty carefully myself, but I fail to see anything in his adventures or in his philosophy except the commonplace.

That does not mean that his success is not remarkable. I couldn't see anything in Talmadge's preaching, either, and I never was much infatuated with Billy Sunday or Aimee McPherson. But I take my hat off to these people just the same. They put it over.

I bow to any one who succeeds. How he does it often is a mystery to me, but if he does, that is enough.

Some one has said that no one would attempt to carve a statue or paint a picture or play the piano without first taking a few lessons, but everybody thinks he can write a book if he only sets his mind to it.

Take it from a man who is in the writing business, and believe me, that writing is a trade. You have to practice at it quite awhile in order to succeed and put out passable stuff.

When a man has flown to the North Pole or lived in the jungles of Africa or sat on a flagpole for six days or done some other remarkable feat, he writes a book about it and people buy it. It may be interesting, but it is not literature.

The man who sits in a back room in Grub street and plugs away at it every day is much more likely to pass out readable stuff.

You can no more write well without practice than you can lay good brick without practice.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

NEW HAVEN counted and found that of those driving passenger automobiles, only five per cent of the women drivers had accidents, while 18 per cent of the men came to grief.

Chances are most of the 18 per cent had women either attracting or distracting them while they tried to do the driving. If it isn't a wife in the back seat, its a clinging vine in the front seat!

New York, which is always so smart, says that girls' legs that measure over 13½ inches in the calf and eight inches in the ankle should not be shown.

It says, too, that if they are not beautiful they should be used only to walk on.

How many years since legs were used only to walk on!

There were no tabloids then.

Judge David, of Chicago, says women can't help it if they are attractive, and they don't want to—and they shouldn't. So, he says, a woman can't sue another for stealing her husband. Not in Illinois.

But in Illinois just lots and lots of women don't wait to sue them.

Men who manufacture tombstones in Illinois are distressingly rich.

Rockville Center, Long Island, reveals a man who left his wife and eloped with another man's wife, and when they were arrested he said: "I'm a sap. That's what her husband told me, and he was right."

The woman was found working at the candy counter in a small store, and she held her head high and said: "We love each other. That's enough."

She ought to let him in on the secret, if they do.

Joan Kent is a chorus girl at night and a student at Columbia University in the day time. The newspapers printed her pictures in dresses suitable for the two roles. The evening dress would hardly cover a firefly. Wouldn't it be just terrible if she slipped into the wrong dress?
